Holding on to Strawberry Field

COUNCILLORS AGREE TO RETAIN LAND AND WAIT FOR SPORTING OPPORTUNITY TO ARISE

By Francesca Evans
francesca@pemedia.co.uk

THE town council has agreed to retain the Strawberry Field in Lyme Regis and wait until an appropriate sporting or recreational use for the site is put forward, as it does not have the resources to develop the land iteself.

The council entered a 999-year lease for the Strawberry Field, owned by Lyme Regis residents Cliff and Caroline Powley, in 2001 with the proviso that the land would be used for sporting and recreational purposes only, and as a park and ride to serve the town.

The field was considered as a new site for Lyme Regis Football Club but planning objections from across the border in Uplyme meant this idea was dropped and the site has since been used for sheep grazing and for a pitch and putt, operated by Lyme Regis Golf Club.

Councillors considered their options for the future of the Strawberry Field at last week's Strategy and Policy Committee meeting. A report by town clerk John Wright said councillors could either sell the lease on, approach an independent leisure provider with regards to developing the site, do nothing until circumstances change or develop it themselves for sporting and recreational purposes, which he pointed out would require financial resources and staff time "beyond the capacity of this council".

Freeholder Mr Powley attended the meeting and told councillors they had shown "certain arrogance" in not consulting him in their recent discussions over Strawberry Field.

Referring to the council's recent failed attempt to create allotments on the site, which Mr Powley objected to, he continued: "It appears no lessons have been learnt from the allotment fiasco when this council wasted a lot of money.

"The reason I sold you the lease was to preserve the use of sporting and recreational use, as well as providing a park and ride facility on a hard standing area. Instead of taking the park and ride forward this area has been used as a dumping ground for all sorts of materials, including plastics, something which encourages the possibility of flytipping.

Not tolerated

"Another area is regularly used for burning rubbish. If a private individual did this, the authorities would be down on them like a tonne of bricks.

"Clearly these uses are not defined in the lease and will not be tolerated in the future. The lease is specific and does not even include agricultural use, which technically does not even allow sheep grazing. This is something, as freeholder, I'm willing to allow but if this lease goes up for sale it must be made clear to any potential buyer."

Referring to Lyme Regis Development Trust's plans for a Jurassic Coast field studies centre on the site, Mr Powley added: "The site was recently considered for a field studies centre. This is something which would have received my favourable consideration. Had this been carried forward it would have been of great benefit to the town in many ways. The buildings would have only taken up a small amount of the site leaving the rest to be developed for sporting facilities at no financial cost to the town.

"One of the options being considered tonight is the sale of the lease. If this is a recommendation, I'm aware of interested parties who would consider the purchase in order to preserve sporting use, in particular football facilities which are desperately needed and deserved by this town."

David Sole, a former Uplyme parish councillor who strongly opposed plans for a new football club at Strawberry Field, said: "I and many in Uplyme were appalled particularly at the idea of a multi-use floddlit games area.

"Many of you probably don't know the ins and outs of the discussions that went on at the time, but any proposal you have please bear in mind what happened before; the very strong opposition from West Dorset District Council planning officers, Uplyme Parish Council and many members of the parish who voiced their disapproval.

"Please be realistic if you have any discussions about sporting facilities there. If you are realistic you may well get a fair hearing from

TRACY Stagg was born in Gosport, Hampshire, and was variously a wages clerk, an optician's receptionist and a bookmaker's clerk. S he married, had a son and moved to Weymouth in 1987, working as a clerk at Ladbrokes before she came to the current CLIC Sargent charity shop as deputy manager in 1994. She has been manager since 2008.

WHY do you live on Portland?
I just love it there. I think it is the best place in the world, wonderful. Every time I go home from work, Portland seems a bit different when I arrive back.

Where do you go for your holidays?
My husband and I usually try to take a break in Devon or Cornwall. That is our favourite part of the country. It is lovely down there.

WHAT is your favourite time of the year?
I love the spring. The emerging growth, all the flowers. I love flowers and everyone is so cheerful to see the sun again.

WHAT is your favourite film?
Any Harry Potter film. I really love them all because it is pure escapism and good triumphing over evil.

What is the scariest thing that has ever happened to you?
My son having cancer. He was eight when he got it, he is clear now and 32 years old, but it still makes me cry now to think of what happened.

IF YOU could live your life again what would you do differently?
I would go to university. I don't know what I would do there, but I have always wanted a better education.

WHICH three people would you invite to your dream dinner party?
I would invite Jesus because I am a committed Christian and I would invite the author Ken Follett because I read a lot and he is my favourite author.
The third person I would invite would be Richard Branson because he thinks outside the box and he has some great ideas.

WHAT would you do if you won the Lottery?
I would buy a nice new house on Portland, have a wonderful holiday visiting relatives in America and I would make a big donation to charity.

WHAT do you hope the future holds?
Better health for me because I have arthritis and a better world for everyone.

Trust reports difficult year and 'funding crisis'

By Philip Evans
philip@pemedia.co.uk

LYME Regis Development Trust, which has secured around £1million for various projects in the town over the past 10 years, has experienced a "diffcult year" and a funding crisis at LymeNet, its community learning centre arm, members were told at their annual meeting.

Former chief executive Marcus Dixon, now working just one day a week as a consultant for the trust, said the UK's "straitened economy" had meant that funding for the trust's projects and activities had been increasingly hard to obtain.

But Mr Dixon, who is now working as a marketing manager for a solar energy company, as is his wife Diana, who also worked for the trust, was still upbeat about the future of the organisation.

"We have pursued our objectives with tenacity and believe that we have continued to have a positive effect on the community's economic and social wellbeing," he said.

One of the projects hit by the financial climate was the proposed Jurassic Coast Studies Centre, originally planned for land in Sidmouth Road but the subject of discussions with Lyme Regis Town Council about the posibility of it being sited on the Strawberry Field, which is earmarked for leisure and recreation use.

Mr Dixon said no funding commitments were volunteered during 2013 and, as a result, the trust was putting the project on hold until the economic climate allowed positive progress to be made.

Mr Dixon referred to the success of the 2013 Fossil Festival which attracted 15,000 people to the town, paying tribute to director Kimberey Clarke and helpers who organised the event in partnership with the Jurassic Coast World Heritage team and Lyme Regis Museum .

The meeting heard that LRDT had piloted the UK's largest community owned WiFi network at the Fossil Festival, which attracted widespread interest and led to the award of development funding from the Adventure Capital Fund, establishing Digital Lyme as a permanent WiFi infrastructure project.

Mr Dixon said: "Digital Lyme is the first stage in giving visitors and local people access to high speed internet services along the seafront and increasingly in other parts of the town popular with visitors. A trial period from late October to early 2014 showed that the network was viable and attracted considerable usage, primarily from visitors. Further development and roll-out of Digital Lyme is planned."

Reporting on LymeNet, Mr Dixon said they were sorry to lose manager Lucy Campbell during 2013 after five years building a range of services much appreciated by local people. Peter Jeffs had joined as manager in June and was faced with a funding crisis due to the impending cessation of Big Lottery support from April 2014. A member of staff and some volunteers had left and Mr Jeffs had pared down the services offered to match the funding available.

He continued to seek additional funding as the trust was determined to keep LymeNet, the town council's crucial contributions enabling continuation at a basic level.

During 2013, 190 individuals received career advice at LymeNet, there were 120 learners and 4, 000 visits to St Michael's Business Centre, approximately 50 per cent being from Lyme residents.

Mr Dixon reported that The Hub youth club, owned by the trust, had gone from strength to strength during the year thanks to the enthusiasm of staff and helpers, financial help from a number of sources and, above all, the involvement of many local young people.

The venue was used regularly by the youth club run by the County Youth Service with great support from James Ward Rice, the youth worker in charge. Other users included B Sharp, the majorettes and the Ammonite Acrobatic Gym Club.

The trust's annual report concluded by confirming that in 2013 Mr Dixon had moved to a marketing role in a local solar energy company after 10 years as chief executive, during which time he had made "an incomparable contribution to the life of the town, initiating the Fossil Festival, the SureStart Children's Centre, leading the rescue of The Hub, starting the Town Mill bridge project, guiding the purchase of the Town Mill Malthouse, founding the gig club and led many other initiatives, always displaying his hallmark characteristics of vision and enthusiasm."

Mr Dixon was continuing as development consultant one day a week to help the trust with its new ventures. In order to save funds, the trustees had decided to rationalise operations between LRDT and LymeNet, and Peter Jeffs was leading this as the new overall chief executive.

Trust chairman Wendy Davies paid tribute to Mr Dixon's work which, she said, had resulted in securing around £1million in funding for local projects.

Mrs Davies said: "He has enabled the town to work together to deliver a wide range of beneficial projects and along the way he has brought into the local economy somewhere around £1million in grant funding.

"If anyone thinks getting funds is easy, you haven't tried it; it takes eons of time, patience, resilience, and perseverance, all of which Marcus has demonstrated in spades, alongside his uniquely inspirational visions of what life could offer if only we dared. Although he has exhausted many volunteers and staff along the way, he has taught us all that a small town cannot only aim for the stars but if we all work together, we can actually reach them."

Affordable flats to go on the market

AN IMPOSING three storey block of flats in Monmouth Street which provides affordable housing for local people is to be put on the market.

Monmouth House, opposite George's Square, contains four single and one two-bedroom flats administered by Lyme Regis Development Trust.

The flats were transferred to the Development Trust by the Monmouth House Trust, together with a capital sum for a planned major refurbishment.

It is understood that the tenants of the flats have been given notice to quit.

Development Trust chairman Wendy Davies said: "Over the last four to five years since the building was transferred to us from the Monmouth House Trust, we have worked extremely hard to improve the fabric of and conditions within the building but have now reluctantly concluded that we are fighting a loosing battle to keep it watertight and make it fit for purpose.

"Our intention is for any such assets resulting from a sale to be directed towards easily-maintained, sustainable affordable housing that better meets modern standards."

New tenant for ice cream parlour

TOWN councillors have selected a new short-term tenant for the ice cream parlour on Lyme Regis seafront.

An extraordinary full council meeting was called on Tuesday of last week to allow councillors to consider bids for the concession.

The Happy Cupcake Company was the successful applicant and will be allowed to operate the Cart Road ice cream parlour for the 2014 season.

Deputy town clerk Mark Tredwin said: "An extraordinary meeting of the full council was held on April 29 at which tenders for the 2014 season were considered in respect of the ice cream parlour on the Cart Road.

"In total, three tenders were considered and the successful tenderer was the Happy Cupcake Company, who have been given authority to run an ice cream parlour until 10 November 2014.

"They applied to sell, alongside the stipulated products, sandwiches and this was agreed to.

"The council wishes them a successful season on the seafront."

A long-term lease for the concession will be put out to tender separately and is expected to operate from March 2015.

No financial details were revealed about the temporary concession.

The previous lease holders of the ice-cream parlour, known as Rinky Tinks, were forced to leave the Cart Road premises due to rent and rate arrears totalling around £24,000.

The decision to call in the bailiffs was strongly criticised in the town and lease holder Lucinda Cliff attended a council meeting to tell councillors that they had been put under financial pressure by three "appaling" summers of bad weather and that she thought the council had been "short sighted" in not working with them to solve their problems.

At the time she said: "The town council are legally right but morally I don't think they are. It's sad for Lyme Regis."

Free children's activities at MillFest

THE Town Mill in Lyme Regis will be hosting MillFest this weekend to celebrate National Mills Day, including a series of free children's activities and storytelling sessions

Watermills and windmills all over the country open their doors to welcome visitors for the weekend on National Mill Day, so the Town Mill, which is already open to visitors all year round, is holding special events to mark the occasion.

As well as free entry to mill there will be free children's activity sessions on Saturday, May 10th from 11am to 12.30pm and 1.30pm to 3pm. Kids can have fun making mud sculptures, dream catchers, bug hotels, bird feeders or working with willow, salt dough, natural paints and materials.

Run by Dedley Adventure Days, children aged 8 to 12 years can be left unsupervised during the activities although parental supervision is required for younger children.

There will also be two free children's storytelling workshops on Saturday from 11am to 1pm and 2pm to 4pm when Ant Ravenwood will read "The Breathing Wheel"; and on Sunday, May 11th from 11am to 1pm when local author and artist Carolyn King will read "The Fish Lizard of Lyme".

This leaves parents free to enjoy a tour of the Town Mill, to explore the courtyard's artisan shops and galleries or taste some local beer, cheese or coffee at the the Town Mill Brewery, Town Mill Cheesemonger and Mill Café.

New volunteers are always welcome at Town Mill to mill flour, work in the shop, help with the garden, fundraise or to run events. For more information or to volunteer, call 01297 443579 or email info@townmill.org.uk

Golf day for Candles on the Cobb

The 18-hole tournament will be held from 9am with individual and team competitions. Prizes will be awarded for the overall winner, individual winners, nearest to the pin and longest drive and team competition for teams for three.

Entry costs £25 for non-golf club members and £10 for members, which includes a breakfast on arrival and donation to Candles on the Cobb.

For entry forms contact the golf club on 01297 442963 (choose option 5) or email admin@lymeregisgolfclub.co.uk

Following the tournament, a barbecue and live music from Delta Tango 7 will be held at the Nag's Head in Lyme Regis, thanks to landlords Rob and Debbie Hamon. Tickets for this cost £5 and are available from the Nag's Head or contact Mike Higgs on 07870 240 650 or Les Herbert on 07568 168 194.

Money raised will go towards the unique Candles on the Cobb event, next to be held in August 2015, which raises thousands for local and national charities and is next year to be filmed from the air for the first time.

Travellers take up Bank Holiday spaces in Holmbush

■ MOVING IN: Travellers' vehicles in Holmbush car park ahead of the busy bank Holiday weekend

TRAVELLERS moved into Holmbush car park in Lyme Regis on Thursday evening, taking up between 30 and 40 spaces ahead of the busy Bank Holiday weekend.

Six caravans and eight vehicles took up space at the Pine Walk end of the West Dorset-owned car park, adding to local concerns over the town's usual parking problems on the May Bank Holiday weekend.

Cobb Gate car park was closed over the weekend to allow for space for the Fossil Festival, part of Monmouth Beach car park was closed for national waterskiing races and half of Charmouth Road car park is still being used as the depot for Phase IV of the coastal protection works.

West Dorset District Council's gypsy and traveller liason officer, Paula Clover, visited the site on Friday afternoon to carry out a needs audit. This takes into account the welfare needs of the travellers, such as whether any of them are pregnant. Notices were then placed on the vehicles ordering them to leave by Sunday, May 4th. West Dorset said that if they had not left by this date, legal action would be taken.

PC Kirsti Ball said: "Due to the fact that the travellers are on West Dorset District Council car park, there is very little the police can do. We have been monitoring the situation and, at this time, we have not had to get involved in any dealings with them.

"Unless any crime is committed, we are leaving it under the control of West Dorset, who are also monitoring the situation."

The travellers moved on Bank Holiday Monday afternoon.

Keeping Lyme beaches clean

AS part of the 26th annual Great Dorset Beach Clean, a number of volunteers turned out in force in rainy conditions last Sunday morning and collected dozens of bags of rubbish from Monmouth Beach after the battering by recent storms.

Among those volunteering was county and district councillor Daryl Turner and a group of Lyme Regis Rotarians.

All the rubbish collectors were provided with gloves and bags which were left by the slipway for collection by West Dorset District Council.

Volunteers were grateful for a piping hot cup and tea and coffee when thee finished, donated by Lyme Regis Sandwich Bar.

News in a nutshell...

Rotary Club backs gymnasts

THE Rotary Club of Lyme Regis has made a donation of £100 towards helping two Lyme Regis gymnasts cover the costs of competing in the prestigious Winti Cup event in Switzerland this month.

The gymnasts train with the Honiton Gymnastic Club.

Rotary president Guy Hayden said: "We helped two gymnasts last year and they did very well indeed. It is a great honour to be able to take part in such a high profile competition.

"Success at this level is very hard to achieve and it is also very expensive, so we are glad we can help these two athletes in some small way. We wish them well in the competition."

Re-stock garden at plant sale

KEEN gardeners are urged to arrive early for the spring plant sale and coffee morning organised by Uplyme and Lyme Regis Horticultural Society for Saturday, May 10th, from 9.30am to 11.30am at Uplyme Village Hall.

SUNNY weather brought crowds of residents to the annual May Day Fete in Lyme Regis on Sunday afternoon.

The traditional event was held in the Anning Road playing field, organised by Lyme Regis Regatta and Carnival Committee.

A total of 18 stalls were set up around the field, raising funds for a number of local causes including the Christmas Lights Committee, RNLI, Royal Voluntary Service, Lyme Regis Majorettes, Lyme Regis Taekwondo Club, Lyme Regis Operatic Society, St Michael's Primary School, Uplyme & Lyme Regis Horticultural Society, the Skatepark Fundraising Committee and a new committee raising funds to improve the play park on Anning Road.

Other activities included face painting, a bouncy castle and children's fairground ride with entertainment including maypole dancing from children at St Michael's Primary School and displays from Lyme Regis Majorettes and Lyme Regis Taekwondo Club.

The fete was officially opened by the Mayor of Lyme Regis, Councillor Sally Holman, accompanied by Mayoress Jane Whittington, who welcomed an estimated crowd of 700.

Teresa Evemy, chairman of the Regatta and Carnival Committee, said: "It was a lovely afternoon meeting everyone after the winter. It was a real community event with families enjoying the sunshine and the entertainment together.

"The sun shone throughout helping us to enjoy the special atmosphere of this occasion and the young people who performed were brilliant as always.

"The afternoon was expertly compared by Andy Brown, a member of the Regatta and Carnival Committee, and organisations reported a steady trade throughout the afternoon – it is expected that over £1,000 will have been raised. "The Regatta and Carnival Committee is also grateful for the support of the town council staff in the preparation for this event."

Fossil Festival full to the brim with visitors

By Francesca Evans
francesca@pemedia.co.uk

THE popular Lyme Regis Fossil Festival returned this weekend with another packed marquee of exhibitions and activities taking over Cobb Gate.

This year's festival was themed "Citizen Science" and started with a secondary schools day based at Thomas Hardye School in Dorchester, followed by a primary schools day in the Lyme Regis marquee on Friday.

The festival was then opened to the general public and the marquee absolutely packed over the weekend, with science and geology-themed activities for the whole family and displays by various science organisations, including the Natural History Museum.

Local fossil collectors also sold their own collections, while fossil-theme theatre was held at the Marine Theatre, talks at The Hub youth club and Lyme Regis Museum also held additional activities and fossil walks.

Festival director Kimberley Clarke said it had been a "great festival" and organisers were already brimming with ideas for next year.

Among the highlights she listed science enthusiast Robin Ince and "Relatively Speaking" by the Tangram Theatre Company, both at the Marine Theatre; FatCat Theatre's plesio-puppets on Marine Parade and the popular Horace the Travelling Pliosaur Cinema, which was making its last appearance at the festival and was packed for every show.

The return of Plymouth Univesity's Dinosaur Runway was also popular with the kids, as was professionl artist Darrell Wakelam's workshop "Chicken-o-saurus", and organisers are now looking for somewhere in the town to display the finished piece of work.

Mrs Clarke added: "We were really excited to welcome some new partners to the festival too – the Dorset Wildlife Trust had an incredible display of mermaid's purses and MARINElife provided loads of info about our local seas. We also said hello to the Dorset Diggers, a local archaeology group who welcome amateurs and professionals alike and who will have a great activity at next year's Festival. GeoFun Reading Rocks shared some practical hands-on advice for understanding the rocks we see all around us, and for those that are rather more hidden, the MicroPalaeontological Association had microscopes and the tiniest fossils imaginable.

"The collectors in the Fossil Fair did a roaring trade selling their fossils to the general public, and selling some of their very special pieces to top collectors and museums too.

"The Natural History Museum's remotely operated vehicle was roaming the sea bottom around our harbour, coming across the most unexpected things and broadcasting them live to museum audiences in London over the weekend. I'm not sure if they had a three feet-long Lego ichthyosaur swim past, but people who stopped into the Lyme Regis Museum saw one – in fact it's still there, in the fossil gallery.

"The Hub played host to our weekend of talks, including an evening devoted to this year's theme Citizen Science, as well as talks about the Antarctic, PalaeoArt, and the Deep-Sea Environment. On the Saturday evening we heard all about the latest news from the Jurassic Coast and about a wonderful project to rescue the Crystal Palace dinosaurs before they go extinct (again).

"We're already plotting for next year, when the theme will be Mapping the Earth and celebrating the bicentenary of William Smith's 'Map that Changed the World' – the first geological map of Britain. Our partners are all planning activities around the mapping theme, we have some spectacular street theatre planned and a fantastic art competition.

"We've also got two of our speakers confirmed - Richard Fortey from the Natural History Museum and our very own Steve Etches, who has collected one of the most spectacular collections of Jurassic Coast fossils."

Anyone who would like to get involved or volunteer over the festival weekend next year can email at info@fossilfestival.com or call Lyme Regis Development Trust on 01297 445021.

On Bank Holiday Monday the Fossil Festival marquee was used to host a successful food and art fair.

Hard questions need to be asked on field studies centre

I ENTIRELY agree with Geoffrey Mann's comments in your letters page last week (April 30th), especially those concerning Lyme Regis Development Trust (LRDT).

When I was on the council I expressed my feelings about the relationship between the council and LRDT which, I felt, was improperly cosy. My disgust for the way certain councillors manipulated the system to ensure that The Hub and LymeNet received funding in preference to other claimants has been well-documented in this newspaper already.

But also, in my brief stint on this dysfunctional council, I objected to an LRDT request for council support when seeking EU funding, on which councillors were given virtually no information. As was required form, I emailed the chairman of the Strategy & Policy Committee before the meeting with questions about this item, seeking clarification of the "geek-speek", platitudinous nature of the motion. Councillor Mark Gage tried to fob me off with patronising remarks about the platitudes being "accepted business language" and suggested I Google any terms I had difficulty understanding.

Having worked for The Economist newspaper, spent many years in business journalism and communications and having taught good business writing in a financial services firm, I commented that the language used by LRDT was designed more to conceal more than to reveal: an art at which LRDT excels.

It was subsequently explained to me that requests for support from LRDT were pretty much automatically approved by the council. This appeared to be true to such an extent that, at the meeting, no one from LRDT had the courtesy to attend to answer any questions we might have (I suppose they thought no one would have the temerity to ask any). The motion was supported by most councillors, to the loss of a far more worthwhile motion from Councillor Daryl Turner, which would have benefited not only a huge number of people in the town but all our visitors as well.

The council pays lip-service to transparency, objectivity and openness. I wonder if they have any idea what those words actually mean.

Regarding LRDT's Field Studies Centre, like Mr Mann, I also have grave concerns about its potential benefit to the town. In particular:

- A centre of 125 beds would suppose an annual occupancy of over 45,000 bed-nights. Are there really this many paleontology, geology and marine science students? Why would it have to be so big?
- How much real commercial benefit would it be to the town? I suspect the traders would see very little. It claims to have a £3.5million benefit to the "wider" local community but it would have its own restaurant, so local restaurants wouldn't benefit. Its prospectus mentions a local spend by the studies centre of £100,000 on buying food from local producers and so on - again from outside Lyme. Those coming on courses would, I have been told, be taken by bus to their point of study, thus by-passing the town, and with the site on the outskirts of Lyme, the opportunities for students to spend money in the town would be severely hampered. Might I remind them that LRDT stands for Lyme Regis Development Trust.
- Would it benefit employment? Perhaps. It would need a few people to staff it, but probably only on a seasonal basis.
- It would have its own classrooms and would expect the museum to relinquish various items to examine in situ. I am not sure how the curators of the museum would feel about this, but why would it need its own classroom when the museum has plans for a classroom in its new extension where the exhibits could be studied, with local experts on hand, on the museum's own premises?

As is typical of the development trust, the Field Studies Centre prospectus is couched in persuasive platitudes. If the project is likely to go ahead, some hard questions will need to be asked.

Variety show refreshing and imaginative

I JUST wanted to write to say how much I enjoyed the variety performance on Saturday night at the Woodmead Halls by the pupils of St Michael's Primary School in Lyme Regis.

It was refreshing to see so many young children using their own initiative and coming up with such imaginative performances, which were all performed extremely well.

In today's society, when young children are often slated for being on their iPods or electronic games, this show proved that all is not lost and there are inspiring children out there.

Therefore, through this newspaper, can I thank all the children for their performances and hard work, and all the staff who helped put on the performance? It was a wonderful show.

View from the churches

THE Reverend Chris Woodman of Lyme Regis Baptist Church this week writes:

"This week, the folk at Bethany Chapel, will be reviewing the first Sunday back in their new improved building facilities. This, together with the recent centenary celebrations, has prompted much reflection upon the history of that particular church.

"Remembrance plays a significant role for us all this year.

An event on Friday, June 6th at 6am will mark the 75th anniversary of the time troops left Lyme Regis for the D-Day landings. Sunday 8th at 2pm will provide a commemoration service. The centenary commemoration of the start of WWI is also upon us. In both cases, the local churches will join the wider community to mark and reflect upon these important historic events.

"It's important to remember, for we are prone to forget. As we remember those who paid the ultimate price we are faced with a stark reality. For all our 'progress' as a race, we can't break free from conflict. Indeed, the 20th and 21st centuries have seen conflict and atrocities at a greater magnitude than ever before.

"Whether conflict between nations, civil war, ethnic unrest, within local towns or even in our own homes; for all our advancement in knowledge we can't 'progress' beyond inflicting suffering to some degree upon one another.

"Remembrance of historical events lie at the heart of the local churches. Namely, the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. This is marked among the churches every week in the form of celebration The Lord's Table/Eucharist/Mass. The times for this coming Sunday are: Bethany Chapel 11am; Uplyme Parish Church 10am; St Michael & George Catholic Church 11am.

"Why not come and explore the proposed solution to our problem as we prepare to remember the historic results of our problem?"

Lyme twinners build on long standing links with Bermuda

By Francesca Evans
REPORTING FROM BERMUDA

A PARTY from Lyme Regis returned from twin town St George's in Bermuda this week, after 11 days of celebrations marking the historical connections between the two communities.

The group of 12 from Lyme Regis - including the Mayor, Councillor Sally Holman, and outgoing chairman of the Lyme Regis/St George's Twinning Association, Sheila Poupard - were keen to build on the already established links between the twin towns and further promote their historical connections, particularly among more young people, whilst also taking part in traditional Bermudian events, including the annual Peppercorn Ceremony in St George's.

Lyme Regis was officially twinned with St George's in 1996 to recognise the important part former Mayor of Lyme Regis and MP, Admiral Sir George Somers, played in the colonisation of Bermuda. In 1609, Sir George led a fleet of nine ships to take provisions to those starving in the new English colony of James Fort, Virginia, but his flagship "Sea Venture" was separated from the others in a hurricane and eventually wrecked on the reefs surrounding Bermuda, later creating the first settlement on the island ("No evil spirits but a plentiful island paradise" - see page 11).

Since 1996 parties from Lyme Regis and St George's have visited their respective twin towns every year in April and July.

During this year's April visit, the Lyme Regis contingent spent Easter in Bermuda and took part in traditional celebrations, including flying kites and eating cod fishcakes with hot cross buns on Easter Friday. They also watched the St George's Passion Walk - a walking play touring the many churches in the town, culminating in the reenactment of the crucifixion - and joined a church service at St Peter's, the oldest church in the Western Hemisphere.

On St George's Day the group were guests at the annual Peppercorn Ceremony, which has taken place since 1816. Each year, the Governor of Bermuda attends to demand the rent of one peppercorn from the Freemasons Lodge St George's for use of the State House, where the government used to meet before moving to the new capital city of Hamilton ("Mayor plays part in Peppercorn Ceremony" - see page 10).

Civic and historical events

Members of the party were invited to Government House later that week to watch the Queen's Commonwealth Baton passed over to Governor George Fergusson in a ceremony which showed off Bermuda's sporting talents ("Commonwealth baton arrives in Bermuda" - see page 12).

The group were taken on a rare trip to the private Smith's Island by the Mayor of St George's, Garth Rothwell, who showed the visitors archaeological sites where it is thought some of the first English settlers lived. They were also invited to civic receptions at both St George's Town Hall and at City Hall in Hamilton by the Mayor of Hamilton, Graeme Outerbridge, and town crier Ed Christopher.

Historical tours around St George's, Hamilton and the Royal Naval Dockyard were led by former teacher and local historian Dr George Cook, while recreational events included the "Across the Atlantic" darts match against a team from Lyme Regis over a Skype link, drinks and dinner parties, boat trips, visits to the Bermuda Agricultural Exhibition and the screening of new documentary "Downing's Wreck", about the discovery of the "Sea Venture" wreck.

View From reporter Francesca Evans was invited to join the group this year to highlight the twinning links among more young people. As part of this project, she delivered letters from St Michael's Primary School in Lyme Regis to St George's Preparatory School and collected replies, as well as giving talks on Lyme to students at both the prep school and East End Primary School, also in St George's.

Others attending this year's twinning events in St George's were Bob and Cynch McHardy, John and Jan Dover, Mike Overfield-Collins, Irene Catley, Hazel Tingley, Char Valley parish councillor Debby Snook from Wooton Fitzpaine and her partner Chales Tait, from Orkney.

CELEBRATING LYME'S HISTORIC LINKS WITH BERMUDA

Mayor plays part in Peppercorn Ceremony

PAYING THE RENT | The peppercorn is handed over by Freemasons to the Governor. Below, Mayor of Lyme Regis, Councillor Sally Holman greets guests at a reception after the ceremony

By Francesca Evans
REPORTING FROM BERMUDA

THE Mayor of Lyme Regis, Councillor Sally Holman, was among special guests who took part in the annual Peppercorn Ceremony in St George's, Bermuda, last week.

Councillor Holman joined members of the Corporation of St George's, Lyme's twin town, for the historic ceremony in which the Governor of Bermuda demanded the rent of one peppercorn from the Freemasons for their use of the State House.

Other members of the Lyme Regis twinning party were also invited to attend and watched the ceremony with other guests.

The event began with the arrival of the Bermuda Regiment Band and Corps of Drums and Guard of Honour. This was followed by the arrival of the Bermuda Police Commissioner Michael DeSilva, Freemasons of Lodge St George 266 and Premier Craig Cannonier MP.

Members of the Corporation of St George's along with Councillor Holman then processed out of the Town Hall into King's Sqaure, where the event was being staged.

The Mayor of St George's, Garth Rothwell, arrived in a horse-drawn carriage, as did the Governor of Bermuda, George Fergusson, along with a heavy police escort.

Members of the Corporation and Councillor Holman were then each introduced to the Governor before he demanded the rent of one peppercorn from Lodge Master David Atwood for their use of the State House, where the Bermudian government formerly met before moving to the new capital city of Hamilton in 1816. The ceremony has been held every year since on the nearest Wednesday to St George's Day, which this year fell on a Wednesday.

Following the ceremony, a meeting of the Governor's Council, normally held in the Cabinet Chamber in Hamilton, was held in the State House, attended by all members of the Cabinet.

Although heavy rain somewhat dampened spirits during the first half of the ceremony, with locals commenting that it "never rains on Peppercorn day", the weather cleared up for a sunny reception for all guests in Somers Gardens afterwards, where they enjoyed a buffet and drinks.

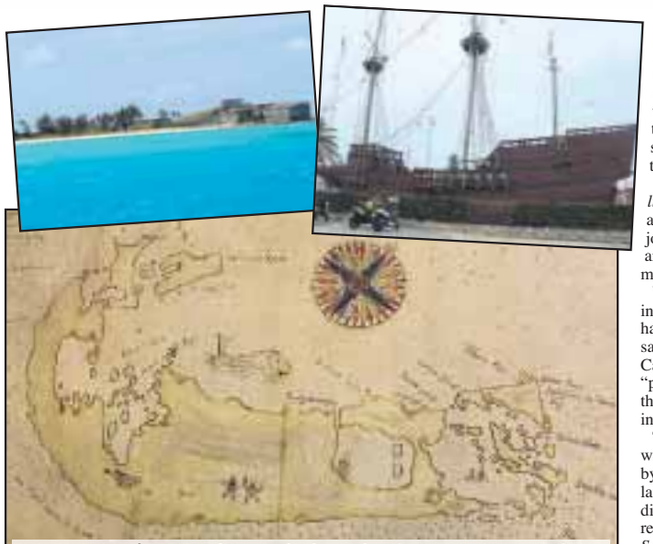
No evil spirits but a plentiful island paradise

THE STORY OF THE SEA VENTURE - BY FRANCESCA EVANS



RICH HISTORY | A map of Bermuda drawn by Sir George Somers. Above, Gates' Bay where the 'Sea Venture' survivors first landed, now home to Fort St Catherine's, and a replica of 'Deliverance' at Ordnance Island, St George's

STANDING on the beach at Gates' Bay in St George's, your mind easily wanders to the unknown land, thick with cedar trees and no sign of civilisation, which would have stood before Admiral Sir George Somers, from Lyme Regis, and his crew as they safely reached Bermuda more than 400 years earlier, having endured a trecherous three-day hurricane.

Previously known as the Isle of Devils, because of the dangerous reefs which surrounded it and the eerie call of the native Cahow bird, which scared off superstitious sailors, the 150 survivors of the Sea Venture (everyone on board made it ashore, even the dog!) must have felt huge relief when they soon realised there were no evil spirits waiting for them, but instead a plentiful island paradise.

Sir George was admiral of the Virginia Company's Third Supply, the fleet of nine ships which left from Plymouth headed for the new English colony of James Fort, Virginia, to bring them supplies. But on land, roles were reversed and it was the captain of the Sea Venture, Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Gates, after whom the bay where they landed was named, who assumed authority, creating two factions among the survivors.

Work began on building two new ships, Deliverance and Patience, from the Bermuda cedar and the wreck of Sea Venture to continue their journey to James Fort, while Sir George rowed around Bermuda, also known as Somers Isles, mapping its coastline.

When the two new ships were ready to set sail in 1610, two stayed behind - Robert Waters, who had been accused of mutiny after murdering a sailor and fled into the forest, and Christopher Carter. Carter has since been described as the first "permanent resident" of Bermuda, remaining on the island despite other ships coming and going in the following years.

The two ships made it to James Fort loaded with salted pork from wild pigs left on Bermuda by the Spanish, who had first discovered the island but never settled there, to find starvation and disease had taken over with less than 100 settlers remaining. The other eight ships from the Third Supply had made it to their original destination, but the crews had only added to the problem, as Sea Venture had been carrying most of the supplies.

It is thought that if Deliverance and Patience arrived just days later they would have found no survivors. Having deemed the new colony unviable the crews from Bermuda and James Fort survivors set sail to return to England, but coincidentally met another relief fleet on James River and the settlers were taken back.

Somers returned to Bermuda for more supplies but died shortly afterwards, most likely from food poisoning. His heart and entrails were burried in Bermuda and the rest of his pickled remains taken back to Lyme Regis by his nephew, Matthew.

In 1612 The Plough arrived in Bermuda carrying 50 of the first intentional settlers from England. St George's was settled that year and designated as Bermuda's first capital. It is now the oldest continually inhabited English town in the New World with a rich history it actively preserves and regularly celebrates.

The story could go on and on... The legacy of the Sea Venture, the remains of which still lie among the reefs off St George's, and its survivors went on to create many more historical tales and local historian Dr George Cook is currently researching the 150 crew and passengers.

It included Sylvester Jordain from Lyme Regis and John Rolfe, whose wife later gave birth to a baby girl. Both mother and baby died and Rolfe continued onto James Fort, where he married Matoaka Powhatan, better known as Pocohontas. The shipwreck is also thought to have been the basis for Shakespeare's "The Tempest".

Which is the real Sir George?

MEMBERS of the twinning party were shown this portrait of Admiral Sir George Somers by Felmish artist Paul van Somer during their visit, but it has since been called into question whether the artist did in fact paint this, or whether this is what Sir George looked like at all.

The group's historical tour guide, Dr George Cook, has long had his doubts about the painting, believing Sir George to look too Spanish and wearing the wrong type of clothing. But after further research into van Somer's work and searching through other images of Sir George on the internet, he is now more certain than ever that this is not the real deal.

Dr Cook believes this portrait to be painted by someone else from a verbal description of what Sir George looked like. He has found another portrait of Sir George (inset), which he thinks is far more in line with van Somer's other work. A print of this is displayed in the church of Sir George's former hometown, Whitchurch Canonicorum, near Lyme Regis, and it is thought that the original is held at Wilton House, near Salisbury. It is hoped that the Lyme Regis twinners will now be able to follow this up.

If you have any information on the portraits of Sir George, call Francesca Evans at the View on 01297 446154.

Commonwealth baton arrives in Bermuda

ARRIVING BY SEA | Swimmer Chris Flook begins the baton relay in Bermuda, rowed by sea cadets into St George's. Below, Commonwealth medalist Brian Wellman and former Premier Dame Jennifer Smith carry the baton down the steps of St Peter's Church

By Francesca Evans
REPORTING FROM BERMUDA

THE twinning party from Lyme Regis were special guests at Government House in Bermuda, as the Queen's Commonwealth Games Baton was handed over as part of its relay around the country.

Some of the group watched the baton begin its relay across Bermuda as it was rowed by sea cadets and carried by swimmer Chris Flook into King's Square at Lyme's twin town of St George's.

It was greeted by the Mayor of St George's, Garth Rothwell, before being handed over to local cricketers who were pictured holding it in St George's historic stocks.

The Queen's Baton was then passed on to Commonwealth Games medalist Brian Wellman who climbed the steps of the town's iconic St Peter's Church, watched by local schoolchildren, to hand it over to former Bermudian Premier, Dame Jennifer Smith.

The twinning party then headed on to Government House in Hamilton, where they had been invited to attend as special guests of the Governor's wife, Margaret Fergusson, having met her earlier in the week.

The baton was carried through the gardens of Government House in a ceremony which celebrated Bermuda's sporting talents, including gymnasts, rugby players and Commonwealth Games silver medalists Antoine Jones and Conrad Lister, as well as the Bermuda Islands Pipe Band to honour the Commonwealth Games this year being held in Glasgow, Scotland.

Governor George Fergusson received the baton before cycling out of the grounds with it and leading it to its next destination, the National Aquatic Centre.

The baton also stopped at other Bermudian landmarks over the two-day relay around the island, including Palm Grove, the Cabinet Office, the Bermuda Agricultural Exhibition and Warwick Long Bay known for its pink sand.

The Queen's Baton will arrive in England on May 31st and will tour around Manchester, Congleton, Sheffield, Brimingham, Plymouth, Bristol, Southampton, Kent, Oxford, London, Suffolk, and Leicester over 11 days before continuing to Scotland for a 40 day tour before the Games open on July 23rd.

FORGING FRIENDSHIPS | Letters have been written to and from St Michael's Primary School in Lyme Regis and children from St George's Preparatory School in Bermuda, pictured above

New school friendships to span across Atlantic Ocean

NEW links are to be established between St Michael's Primary School in Lyme Regis and schools in St George's, Bermuda.

View From reporter Francesca Evans was invited to join a party from Lyme on their annual trip to twin town St George's to promote the links between the two communities among more young people, and to encourage them to take part in twinning activities.

As part of this project, Miss Evans visited two primary schools during her trip - St George's Preparatory School and East End Primary School - to give talks and answer questions about Lyme Regis, and to set up links with St Michael's.

The students at St Michael's wrote letters to the children of St George's Preparatory School and they in turn wrote letters and postcards which Miss Evans has brought home with her and will shortly deliver to St Michael's. It is hoped this will result in an ongoing friendship between the two schools, and that East End Primary will also be able to join in the link.

Miss Evans will be giving a talk on her trip to Bermuda to the children at St Michael's and students of the Woodroffe School in Lyme Regis. It is also hoped that Woodroffe will be able to include a section on Lyme's twinning links with St George's in its Year 7 "People and Places" class next year.

Bermuda fact file...

Bermuda is the oldest remaining British Overseas Territory. Although often referred to in the singular, it is made up of 181 islands, formed by high points on a submarine volcano

Bermuda was first discovered by Spanish sea captain Juan de Bermúdez in 1503, after whom the islands are named but not settled until the arrival of the "Sea Venture" in 1609

Bermuda is 53.2 square kilometres or 20.6 square miles and is 640 miles from its nearest landmass, Cape Hatteras in North Carolina. Its population in 2010 was 64,237

The island's motto is "Quo Fata Ferunt" which means "Whither the Fates Carry Us"

St George's was established as Bermuda's first captial in 1612 and is the oldest continuously inhabited English town in the New World. Hamilton took over as capital in 1815

Rainfall generates Bermuda's only supply of fresh water. Its buildings' distinctive white roofs are designed to catch water, which is stored in tanks

The US Air Force built an air base in St David's, Bermuda, in 1941, dredging part of Castle Harbour and incorporating several small islands to create additonal landmass for an airfield, later converted to a civil airport

Bermudians are only allowed one car per household. Cars are not available to rent on the island but many choose to travel by moped instead. The speed limit across the whole island in 20mph.

The Lyme Regis/St George's Twinning Association's annual general meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 28th with a lunch at the Pilot Boat Inn from 12.30pm and business from 2pm. New members always welcome and the group is currently looking for more young members in particular, with membership costing just £10 per year. Those interested should email Sheila Poupard on she941570@aol.com

Let's give our councillors the year off!

ANOTHER VIEW...

with monthly columnist Chris Boothroyd

Next May brings town council elections. So here's an idea to prepare the ground for Lyme's effective governance. It's radical, unconstitutional and - many might argue - undemocratic (though whether the present council is "democratic", in any real sense, could be questioned).

The thought follows years of observing, and in a small way working with, the council. Individually, our councillors have plentiful virtues; collectively, rather few. Time (and thus money) is wasted by dysfunctional, inward-looking proceedings and mutual distrust. The unhealthy goings-on demoralise and damage the town. Another year of this might best be avoided.

Councillors are, let's remember, volunteers. They started out with ambitious hopes which, with the exception of the skatepark, are largely unfulfilled. It's partly a failure in what they do - even more, one of how they do it. (If you doubt this, look up Councillor Mark Gage's lengthy address to his first Strategy & Policy meeting, printed in this paper on June 22nd 2011.)

Seemingly in denial about this failure, bemused by the widespread public loss of confidence, and baffled as to the causes of both, councillors in frustration blame each other instead of examining their individual responsibilities for the decline - which may now be beyond reversal. And they seem to be tiring.

For the first six months of their term, average attendance at full council meetings was 92 per cent; for the most recent six months it's 78 per cent.

So my suggestion is that they vote themselves a sabbatical year off, for a deserved rest. Let the mayor and deputy mayor continue their civic and ceremonial duties, while the council officers and staff run the town for the year, guided by existing policies and working with whoever is willing to help.

The council's employees are a pretty good bunch, with more to offer the town's wellbeing than they're currently allowed to give. Their potential effectiveness is weakened by councillors' micromanagement, by an excess of committees, by debate not always in command of the facts, and by confused decision-making.

Senior officers are diverted into calming and refereeing overwrought councillors, taking legal advice and drawing up codes of conduct. Staff time is consumed preparing too many agendas and reports (often inadequately read and understood), attending evening meetings, then trying to make sense for the minutes of what's gone on.

Why not give the staff their heads for a year, free from muddled oversight, to show what they can achieve? Give them time to concentrate on turning talk into practical action, managing day-to-day town requirements smoothly, dealing with letters, emails and phone messages, and communicating with the public.

Naturally, they would want, and the town would need, fresh democratic links for this exceptional year. We'd all benefit from a reduction in the council's present isolation - symbolised by the fact that, in contravention of its own policy, the background papers to meetings are suppressed from its website while those in the library cover just 16 of the last year's 51 main open council meetings.

Woeful at welcoming free help

How about a quarterly, rather than annual, town meeting with senior officers, chaired by the mayor? How about welcoming free help and advice from citizens and voluntary groups, something at which the present council is woeful? How about sharing ideas on important issues through imaginative use of the council website and newsletters, the local press, email - even (responsibly) social media?

Come to think of it, why shouldn't such things happen in normal years? Too difficult? Greek city states, two-and-a-half millennia ago, managed strong public engagement with larger populations than Lyme and none of our modern electronic media.

And the benefits, beyond a year of grown-up, efficient management? It would break the cycle of low expectation, cynicism and lack of interest within the town. A higher calibre council could then make a fresh start with crisp, efficient and cost-effective ways of doing business. Aware that the town had been well-run without them, the incoming councillors might be readier to foster staff initiative and responsibility.

Councillors could focus on their proper roles. They could lead, inspire, support and pull together the stimulating variety of Lyme organisations, making the community more than the sum of its parts. They could stand back to see "the big picture", talking with and listening to residents and visitors in the course of developing policies essential for the town's future.

They could monitor (not manage - that's the town clerk's job) the work of staff and volunteers in a co-operative spirit. They could liaise energetically with neighbouring parishes and other tiers of local government - not scoring cheap political points off them but reducing confusing and costly overlaps while increasing shared action.

Such a town council, replacing morose aloofness with cheerful engagement, could reinvigorate interest in and support for its activities, restore the optimistic joie de vivre which Lyme intrinsically possesses, and prove a worthy embodiment of the town it serves.

And such a council would be better placed to face the changes in local government that will, eventually, occur; for the present three-level pattern of county, district and town/parish cannot for ever continue its expensively wasteful way.

Of course, there's no chance of this temporary proposal being adopted. But it could be a revealing thought-experiment. And old men are allowed to dream...

County to make decision on landfill plans

A FINAL decision on a proposal to create a landfill site on the driving range of Lyme Regis Golf Club will be made by Dorset County Council on Friday, May 9th.

The landfill off Charmouth Road would be a maximum depth of 2.75 metres in the centre of the site for 40,000 cubic metres of inert waste, and the application says it would provide a "much needed landfill site for the deposit of inert waste from local construction, demolition and ground work projects in an area of Dorset where there is a lack of such authorised sites".

It adds: "The nearest landfill sites are a considerable distance away, incurring substantial costs, both financial and environmental, in trucking inert waste to these site from the western part of Dorset."

On completion of the landfill operation, the site would be restored for continued use as a driving range and practice area. A reduced driving range would operate throughout in an area of the site which the landfill will not affect.

Two access points would be created for the landfill operation. Access to the northern part of the site would be from the existing access on the A3052 and a temporary new access point would be created nine metres south of the existing entrance.

Lyme Regis Town Council found no objection to the plans but concerns were later raised by Uplyme Parish Council and residents of the village who have views across to the site and said they are "horrified" by the "ridiculous" plans.

The parish council was concerned the main impact, both visiaully and aurally, would be on the residents of the Harcombe Valley, within their parish, and asked that any impact be minimised by reducing the proposed operational hours to 8am to 5pm Monday to Friday. They also requested a noise survey be carried out and that Dorset County Council give one-year permission and assess the impact before permitting the remaining four years requested.

Dorset County Council's head of planning has now also recommended refusal ahead of Friday's meeting as the site is in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty and the application "does not establish that exceptional circumstances exist to justify a grant of planning permission in the public interest".

The planning application can be viewed online at http://bit.ly/1rYM2cX people like myself who very strenuously opposed it before."

Before members discussed the item, the town clerk advised they wait for principal opportunities to arise that would allow them to develop the site in line with the lease, adding that the council did not have the resources to invest a significant amount of money in the site.

Mr Wright said he did know of other sporting organisations who were interested in the site, including the football club which was looking at a development on a smaller scale than its previous plans and seeking funding.

Councillor Owen Lovell said: "I'm unhappy to do nothing. People say we've got to do soemthing or we've wasted our money. We didn't waste our money, we've got potential for a site in Lyme Regis that will provide recreational facilities some time in the future."

He suggested that Lyme Regis Bowling Club based on Monmouth Beach could be moved to the Strawberry Field, where it could be offered a longer lease and free parking.

"If you forever sit on your hands and do nothing, nothing is going to happen to it. Doing nothing is sending the wrong message to the town," he added.

Mr Wright replied: "It's an incredibly valuable asset to the town but let's not force something to happen."

Councillor Terry O'Grady argued that the town was in "desperate need" of more sporting facilities, particularly more football pitches and tennis courts.

"How many football teams does this town have? And all successful," he added.

However, it was agreed to retain the land and do nothing until circumstances change.

Because everyone needs a

IT IS fair to say that Bridport's newest attraction, Soulshine Café, is the talk of the town.

Social media is buzzing with rave reviews of the food and drink on offer, and photos of the venue's extraordinary features.

The café offers great speciality coffee, unique freshly squeezed juices and smoothies, and delicious freshly-made salads, sandwiches and lunches – all in an amazing space which would not look out of place in one of the world's major cities.

The beautiful courtyard – a sun-trap all day long – is also proving popular, as is the fine range of independent magazines, children's literature and kitchen goods for sale.

Husband and wife team Lisa Loader and Chris Denne took on the former gallery / café towards the end of 2013 with grand designs on creating something unique in the area.

Using a design overview imagined by Ms Loader, the project used the talents of a host of local craftspeople, furniture designers, woodworkers, artists to make a dream reality.

Mr Denne believes the end result is something that bears the stamp of Bridport – even if familiar local icons were avoided.

He said: "Lisa and I were keen to do something

> "The result is an experience that reflects the essential qualities of Bridport - somewhere exciting, different and buzzing with life."

The use of colour in your home…

COLOUR is perhaps the most personal and dramatic statement you can make in your home.

When it comes to decorating, poring over paint charts is undoubtedly one of the most exciting things, and the moment when you first take the lid off that tin of paint is even better. Colour can create moods, and even, many people believe, improve your mental well-being.

Choice

It doesn't seem that long ago that the choice for colour was either magnolia or 'tint with a hint'. Nowadays there are endless possibilities and, as with clothes, the major companies bring out new colours each season. One minute acid green is all the rage, the next it's the 'new neutrals'. It is easy to be overwhelmed by the choice. Even sticking to tried and tested white can have its pitfalls.

Pitfalls

You may know exactly which colours you want to use but you can still hit a stumbling block. Why does the colour that looked so great in the tin look insipid and lifeless on the walls? What's more, you've spent hours trying to get everything to match exactly, but your room has just ended up looking bland.

Colour schemes

Planning and carrying out your own colour schemes is easy once you understand the principles of colour. Interior designers often seem to have a built-in instinct for what goes with what, and it's true, relying on your instincts and playing around is one of the best ways of learning. But although paint is relatively cheap, doing out a whole room with soft furnishings and accessories only to realise it doesn't work, can be an expensive mistake. Designers have been trained and many use a simple colour wheel to make sure their designs are going to work.

If you're confused about colour, follow our simple rules and you need never leave colour to chance again. And once you know the rules, have fun breaking them.

Colour is a deeply personal thing - what makes you swoon, might make someone else sick. If you've ever wondered why you feel listless in your lounge or happy in your hall, delve into colour psychology.

Boost your bedrooms

ONE of the best ways to make your home more suited to your needs, especially if you have a growing family or want to work from home, is to add a bedroom.

Increasing the number of bedrooms can also put your home in a different price bracket if and when you come to sell.

The most obvious place to put an extra bedroom is upstairs, with all the others, and sometimes it's possible to use the space you already have.

For example, if the main bedroom spans the front of the house, you may be able to divide it in two, as long as each room has its own, separate window. This may not be as satisfactory as adding space, but it can work well if your home's big enough and you're on a limited budget.

When you come to sell, remember that couples and sharers will probably be looking for good-sized double bedrooms, while families may be happier to have more, smaller bedrooms if it means one for each child.

If rejigging the existing space isn't an option, consider converting the loft into a bedroom or bedrooms instead. If you can also fit a bathroom or shower room up there, and built-in storage, you've created the perfect master or guest suite.

The cheapest and easiest loft conversions are ones with skylights (eaves conversions), as the line of the roof is unchanged. However, this isn't ideal if the loft has limited space.

Building out the roof to create more useable space inside is often necessary, which means a (more expensive and complicated) dormer, mansard or hip-to-gable conversion.

The pitch of the roof can make a big difference to how useable the space is - some lofts don't have enough head height to make the conversion worthwhile unless you lower the ceilings in the rooms below. This is a big and expensive job and won't be practical if the ceilings are already quite low.

You also need room for a good-sized staircase up to the loft on the floor below and if this means losing a bedroom, you may not gain much by converting the loft.

Building regulations for loft conversions are very strict about having a safe means of escape in the event of a fire, so it's not necessarily the easiest way to add an extra bedroom.

Creating a downstairs bedroom, and preferably a bathroom or shower room next to it, can work better, providing your home's layout is suitable.

Ground-floor extensions are usually used to add kitchen, dining and living space, but they can include bedrooms.

A two-storey extension is often better because you can create extra living space downstairs and bedrooms upstairs and it should be cheaper than doing a ground-floor extension and a loft conversion, but two-storey extensions aren't always easy to do with our planning system.

Another way to add a bedroom is converting your home's garage (or outbuildings) into one. If the garage is mostly used for storage and the stuff can be stored elsewhere, the garage may be more useful and valuable as a bedroom, as long as it's converted properly and sympathetically.

To get the best of both worlds, you could put a bedroom on top of the garage, if there's space to build above it and for a new corridor on the first floor.

Room for fun

CHILDREN and a calm, stylish home don't always go hand in hand. But you can create spaces to suit grown-ups and youngsters alike, as family lifestyle expert Ashlyn Gibson tells Gabrielle Fagan.

If your home is feeling like a battleground, as you and your children fight for territory, it could be time for a new strategy.

Before you consider moving or boarding schools - or simply resign yourself to chaos until they've flown the nest - there is another answer: creating rooms that suit your need for stylish spaces as well as theirs for play areas.

"Children and decor aren't generally regarded as a match made in heaven. Sticky fingers, the patter of tiny, muddy feet and an ever-growing collection of plastic toys can take their toll on rooms," says Ashlyn Gibson, author of Creative Family Home; a blueprint for transforming a home that appeals equally to grown-ups and youngsters.

All that's needed, she believes, is a little imagination, a dash of flair, and with your children's help, a family home can be one that's fun and which you're proud to show off.

"Bringing up children is an adventure and living with them should be fun," she says. "It's all about capturing their spirit of wonder, discovery and sense of fun, and giving them child-friendly spaces which encourage them to be imaginative. Spaces where you can all relax, and they can express their personalities."

Key ingredients, she says, are practical layouts, easy-to-clean durable surfaces able to withstand the rough and tumble of family life, and ideally a neutral backdrop so that it's easy to add vivid colour and pattern, which children love, in everything from fabrics and furnishings through to their toys, collections and artwork.

"With a bit of ingenuity you can showcase their possessions to great effect, and have a home that never looks stagnant or dull. A colourful, visually stimulating home is an inspiring place for everyone, young and old."

Play & display

Children's toys seem to have a life of their own, apparently cloning themselves over night so they constantly overflow storage boxes and invade every corner. Make stumbling over them a distant memory by providing child-friendly storage.

"A home free of clutter will have a relaxed, calm vibe which the whole family will enjoy," says Gibson.

"Portable storage, a box on castors or a vintage suitcase, is versatile and allows children to transport contents from room to room."

Tip: Have a clear-out of toys regularly but do it with your children - don't rush them, because choosing what to discard is all part of the process of growing up. Donate unwanted items to a charity shop or let them boost pocket money by selling at car boot sales.

Hide & seek style

"Children love making dens, cosying up in small spaces and finding secret boltholes they can call their own," says Gibson.

"You don't need to invest in expensive playhouses which will soon be outgrown, just create places in rooms, whether it's an old sofa, or the space behind one, for enjoying reading sessions, or simply a pile of cushions and a lamp on a landing.

"Even a small bedroom will be a much-loved sanctuary if you invest in a raised bed so there's more space below it for playtime. Allow children a say in how it's decorated. If they experiment and express their personalities, they'll want to spend time in it."

Tip: If children share a bedroom spell out their names in letters on the walls by each bed to mark out their territory. Fabric Personalised Letters, £9.99 each, from Country Bumpkins.

Shared space

The space where you're cooking or working can be magnetic to children, but unsafe as well as inconvenient. Instead, suggests Gibson, utilise 'dead space' for play zones, like an under-stairs cupboard. Use a fold-away dining table so the space doubles as an activity area, or designate a play corner. "If there's enough height, an indoor swing will give youngsters hours of enjoyment," she says.

Tip: Masking tape can be used on hard floors to create a hopscotch court or to mark out a treasure trail. My First Train Tape, £10.99, from Gift Oasis, can be used on walls and floors.

Creative corners

Think outside of the paint box and create areas throughout the home where youngsters can doodle and daub, urges Gibson.

"A desk where they can base themselves is essential. Sitting at it and conjuring up their own projects encourages them to develop powers of concentration, and learn how to zone out and become completely involved in activities and make-believe," she says.

Tip: Frame their art work in perspex or clip-frames and create a gallery. Drawing on walls needn't be a banned activity! Mark out a picture frame shape on a wall with masking tape and let them express themselves within it. Peel off tape once finished and the picture will have crisp edges and be a unique focal point.

Colourfence

the smart choice for long lasting, low maintenance fencing

Low maintenance, longer life, better value...

Now Available Throughout Dorset and South Somerset

Experienced local business owners, Andy and Shelley Stewart, have launched Colourfence in Dorset and South Somerset. And that's great news for the area's homeowners who have become tired of all the costly and time-consuming maintenance that accompanies traditional timber fencing, which means we all get to spend less time maintaining our boundaries, and more time enjoying our gardens.

Colourfence is comparable in price to quality timber installations, although of course its unique low maintenance and durability means it will almost certainly work out cheaper in both time and money over the years.

Virtually maintenance free and designed to withstand harsh climates, Colourfence not only holds its colour for over 25 years it acts as a solid barrier, even against wind gusts of 130mph! The only maintenance your fence will require is an occasional wash down with water to keep it looking as good as new – so you never need to pick up that paintbrush again!

Colourfence is manufactured in Gloucestershire with all surveys and installations handled by a network of locally owned franchises. But, until the Stewarts became involved with the brand, nobody covered the South West - something that surprised Andy when he first came across the company.

"I was amazed Colourfence wasn't promoted in this area already, as there is clearly so much demand," he says. "We would certainly buy it ourselves; we have a garden and have spent too many afternoons with a paintbrush in hand. We've also spoken to friends and family who've recently had to repair or replace storm-damaged panels.

"Virtually no maintenance, coupled with its strength and durability make it the classic no brainer," he adds. "Moreover, the costs and guarantees means Colourfence is much better value than timber in the long term."

A timber fence needs maintaining – usually once a year. And that takes time. But even with the utmost care and attention, timber will age, spoil and need replacing. Colourfence, on the other hand, is made from innovative Colorbond steel and features an anti-corrosive coating that won't rust. The company also produces ColourRail matching railings or gates that are guaranteed not to corrode or flake for ten years.

With all its prices published on the website, Colourfence's customers know exactly what they pay. And that means they don't have to worry about negotiations or the hard-sell tactics that many home-improvement companies deploy, something Shelley Stewart says she wouldn't put their name to.

"Andy and I built and sold a franchise with a well-known home-improvement company, and we had a great reputation with the public," she says. "We always put a lot of emphasis on customer service, and were pleased to find Colourfence upholds those same standards."

Colourfence built its model on ethical trading, and features a number of customer testimonials on its website. The company has also collected a few accolades since landing on these shores, becoming a RHS Gold Award winner and being voted one of BBC Gardenings Top Ten products.

JELLICIOUS JELLY JAZZ!

JELLY Jazz promises the funkiest club night south of the North Pole to kick off the Lyme Regis Jazz & Blues Weekend on Friday, May 30th at Marine Theatre.

Hot foot from a successful string of club nights across the South West, Jelly Jazz DJ Peter Isaac and DJ Griff will be spinning the decks with jazz-infused floor-fillers, incorporating soul and funk with a hefty dose of jazz.

They'll be joined on stage by Freshly Squeezed, a hi-energy eight piece band for a live set with a strong Latin, percussive vibe.

Pete Isaac is a DJ promoter and driving force behind Jelly Jazz and has developed an international reputation as a DJ. At the height of the rave culture, Jelly Jazz started staging a weekly diet of soul, Latin, hip hop and break-beat but with a jazz twist. Joining forces with DJ Griff, who brings melodic funkiness to the table, the blend works to deliver a 'dance till you drop' club night.

Jelly Jazz incorporate live music into their sets, showcasing just-below-the-radar bands who can pack a punch in terms of delivery and quality. Freshly Squeezed hail from the South West and have built a reputation for outstanding musicianship, energetic performances and blowing the socks off everyone on the dance-floor. With horns, guitars, keyboards and percussion, these boys can make some noise.

Julie Sheppard the festival's publicist said: "Most club-nights tend to play one genre of music, at one tempo all night. Jelly Jazz nights are different. They provide great dance music which isn't in a predictable format. Expect bongos, beats, and bass-lines with scratchy guitars, wholesome horns, and wailing organs. You'll be in for a different kind of experience – an out-of-body one, if you're lucky. But above all, it'll be funky!"

The Jelly Jazz Club Night is at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis, on Friday, May 30th, Doors open: 8pm. Bar extension until 1am.

Tickets: £10 from Tourist Information Centre Tel: 01297 442138 or online via www.marinetheatre.com.

DANI WILDE AND TODD SHARPVILLE TO PLAY DA BLUES GIG

DON'T miss the chance to catch two of the UK's finest blues exponents, Dani Wilde and Todd Sharpville, touring in a rare, unplugged/acoustic format, duetting new songs from their respective upcoming albums.

Multi-instrumentalist Sharpville has been a stalwart of the international blues scene for many years – to quote BB King: "what a talent".

Wilde burst onto the International blues scene in 2007 opening for Jools Holland at The Royal Albert Hall and has toured extensively ever since, playing up to 250 concerts a year across the globe.

The duo play at Dorchester Arts Centre on Saturday, May 10th at 8pm, with doors and bar open from 7.30pm.

Tickets are £13/£6.50 (Under 18 or with N.U.S. Card) in advance, or £14/£7 (Under 18 or with N.U.S. Card) on the door. Senior Citizen ticket: £11 advance/£12 door.

Sean Hughes to kick off Weymouth Pavilion's Sunday comedy nights

NEVER Mind the Buzzcocks star Sean Hughes comes to Weymouth this month for the first Sunday night comedy show at the Pavilion.

The new monthly gig will feature a regular host, a full line up of comics, and a big TV comedy star to headline the show.

Top of the bill at this month's debut gig will be comedy legend Sean Hughes. Sean shot to fame in the 90s after becoming the youngest winner of the Edinburgh Festival's Perrier Award. He went on to become a regular team captain on 'Never Mind the Buzzcocks' and host his own show 'The Seany Show'.

Since then Sean has ventured into acting and writing but continued to entertain audiences around the UK with regular solo shows. He comes to Weymouth on top form, fresh off the back of his latest show 'Penguins'.

Sean will be supported on the night by former English Comedian of the Year Matthew Osborn and Scottish comedian and impressionist Geoff Boyz.

Holding it all together will be regular host, and local comic, Tom Glover. Tom is one of the south west's most exciting new talents looking to follow in the footsteps of fellow westcountry comics Russell Howard, Josh Widdicombe and Jon Richardson.

Weymouth born comic, Tom, has been working with the venue to bring the best names in stand up to the town.

"The Pavilion is a fantastic venue for live comedy and I think it's something the town has been crying out for," he said.

"I want to help put Weymouth back on the comedy map and make it a place where comics look to when booking their live tours.

The new Sunday night show is going to be a little different to the usual solo shows you see in the theatre with a full line up of acts on the bill.

"The gig is going to feature some top TV names but also some lesser known acts who are equally as great but you are yet to see on the small screen," he said.

"It's going to have a Live at the Apollo feel to it, and with three comics and myself, it will hopefully offer something for everyone. Basically it will be a much better way to spend your Sunday than sitting in front of Antiques Roadshow."

The first Sunday Night Comedy at Weymouth Pavilion will be at 7:30pm on Sunday, May 18th. Tickets are £15 and available online at www.weymouthpavilion.com or from the box office on 01305 783225.

The play will be directed by local resident Jenny Wiles as a fundraisier for the theatre and all are welcome to join in - whether already part of a local dramatic society or not. Read throughs of the scrip will be held on Monday, June 2nd and Tuesday, June 3rd at 7.30pm, with auditions on June 16th and 17th. Those interested can call 01297 442394 for further details.

Rehearsals hotting up for Mame

REHEARSALS are hotting up for "Mame" for the chorus and principals of Lyme Regis Operatic Society. The test of remembering words to songs and the movements which have been choreographed for each phrase of each song, and then putting them together with a smile and projection is always a difficult task for amateur performers.

After a full day's work, and then organising the family at home, between thirty and forty individuals meet up for a rehearsal at the church hall or theatre, maybe once or twice a week for four or five months. Drawn from the surrounding area ~ stretching from Bridport to Exmouth and inland to Axminster and Colyton, these amateurs brush up their moves to such a standard that they have been compared with professionals!

"Breathtakingly good", "born to perform", and "five star performances" are all words used by View from to describe last year's 'Calamity Jane', and the Society is now all set to bring you 'Mame' from 13-17 May.

The story revolves around Patrick Dennis, the 10-year old orphaned nephew of Mame Dennis into whose custody he has been entrusted. Rather than bow to convention, Mame introduces the boy to her madcap and free-wheeling lifestyle. Despite her best efforts to prevent it, the trustees of her late brother (Patrick's father) force Patrick to attend boarding school in Massachusetts. When Mame loses her fortune in the Wall Street Crash she tries her hand at a number of jobs, with comically disastrous results. She eventually meets and falls for Beauregard Jackson Pickett Burnside, a Southern aristocrat with a plantation in Georgia called Peckerwood. After several years away travelling the world on an 'endless honeymoon' with Beau, Mame returns home to discover that Patrick has become a priggish snob engaged to an equally priggish debutante, Gloria Upson, from a bigoted family. Mame tries to bring Patrick to his senses just in time to introduce him to the woman who will eventually become his wife.

The evening performances will commence slightly earlier than normal at 7.15pm to accommodate the young people taking part in the show, and the Matinee on Saturday will start at 2.30pm.

Tickets are available from estate agents Fortnam Smith & Banwell in Broad Street ~ telephone 01297 445666 ~ priced at £12 each, with concessions for children under 16 at £5.

Jazz and Blues session makes a comeback in Beaminster

THE final monthly jazz and blues session at Beaminster on Friday (May 9th) will be just like all the others – a sell-out.

Organised by Dr Elaine Hendrickson, the sessions began in February and have featured some talented local musicians such as Julie Dunn, BlueZoo blues band, Charlotte Storey and Ben Waghorn.

The sessions, which have been held at the Beaminster pavilion, have been a surprise big hit.

But for everyone who is sorry they are ending, there is good news. The jazz and blues sessions will start again in September.

"I organised the sessions because I wanted to see some jazz as part of the Beaminster Festival," said Dr Hendrickson.

"The sessions were not widely marketed, but they sold out by word of mouth before we even had a chance to get the posters distributed.

"The support for jazz and blues has been phenomenal and the musicians, some of whom came from further afield than West Dorset, have been excellent.

"Thanks to the encouragement and enthusiam from the audiences for the sessions they will start again in September and carry on until people stop buying tickets."

VILLAGE EVENSONG AT STINSFORD

IN THE early nineteenth century, various members of Thomas Hardy's family played their stringed instruments up in the gallery at Stinsford Church, providing the music for the regular Sunday services before the days of organs and robed choirs.

Beaminster Gallery Quire is dedicated to researching and performing the village church music of that time, so it is most appropriate that they should be visiting Hardy's own parish church to play and sing a service of Choral Evensong conducted in the style of around 1830, taking place this Sunday, May 11th, at 6pm, at Stinsford Church, near Dorchester.

Village church music was then quite unlike music heard in many churches today – in fact it was all rather jolly and upbeat – and by the middle of the century it had given way to changing fashions and the Victorian reform movement. Beaminster Gallery Quire will be turning the clock back to the earlier period, singing and playing with gusto!

Beaminster Gallery Quire

Music is of course only one part of the service, its style changing greatly with the passing years. By contrast, the Order of Evening Prayer is taken from the 1662 Book of Common Prayer, and these unchanging words are the basis for the recreation of a service as it might have been conducted two centuries ago.

The congregational hymns are all of the period, but are still well-known to this day. We hope that a packed church will raise 'A Joyful Noise unto the Lord'!

Following the service of Evensong, there will be a short interval for light refreshments, after which Beaminster Gallery Quire will 'loose its stays' for half an hour, entertaining us with some lighter items from the Gallery Repertoire.

A Sprinkling of Stardust for the S&S May Auction

SYMONDS & Sampson's auction on 30 May will be the largest one of the year so far with properties stretching across Dorset, Wiltshire and Somerset.

Auctioneer Mark Lewis is already excited about the prospect of offering the lots for sale.

We have a most eclectic list of property, several of which have not been on the market for many years. For example, The Old Rectory at Winterborne Houghton, which is a fine Victorian village house standing in approximately 3 acres of garden and paddock with huge potential for refurbishment and sympathetic modernisation. Sitting on the top of a hill with lovely views there is a story that the vicar in residence was once so incapacitated that he was taken down and up to the church by Sedan Chair. Being quite a big man the ride home was a bit of a struggle for his helpers!

Worgret Manor at Wareham is a Grade II Listed manor house with consent for change of use from an hotel to a private house and has 13 individually styled bedrooms, all with en suite showers. The guide is £650,000.

In the centre of Sherborne is a lovely 1930s house called Pentire enjoying a delightful garden with off street parking and garaging which is quite unusual for that part of the town. The guide is £300,000 - £350,000. Set in one of the most stunning locations just up the road is Valley View which is a unique chance to design and extend a property in a wonderful location with fabulous views. Set in about 1.62 acres it will be a great project for somebody to take on and has a guide price of £495,000.

In Mill Lane, Preston, Weymouth a unique, detached chalet style residence with separate flat and annexe will be offered at £325,000 to £350,000 whilst a very pretty detached Grade II Listed cottage with gardens and grounds of about 1 acre at Fiddleford is guided at £350,000.

A detached four bedroom cottage in Henstridge with room to improve is for sale with a guide of £230,000 whilst two cottages at Yeovilton, that have just been de-listed by the Local Authority are to be sold with guide prices of £125,000 (1 bedroom) and £150,000 (2 bedroom). Staying in Somerset we have a Grade II Listed character cottage for sale in Crewkerne guided at £95,000 and a most unusual pair of former garages with loft and development potential (STPP) in Castle Cary for £25,000.

In Wiltshire there is a detached two bedroom bungalow requiring modernisation in a popular cul-de-sac corner plot in Warminster for £170,000 and we have land for sale at Whiteparish (near Salisbury) being lovely mature amenity woodland including a carp lake and adjoining meadows. This 10 acres has a guide at £120,000. Other land is available in Merley Park Road, Ashington, Wimborne where 22 acres of gently sloping grazing land with a stream and woodland is guided at £125,000 to £150,000 and 17 acres of pasture land near Sandford Orcas near Sherborne for £110,000. A further 14 acres is for sale at North Cheriton at the same guide, £110,000. At Gussage All Saints near Wimborne a beautiful paddock and chalk stream on the edge of the village is guided at £75,000 for 8 acres and in Gillingham 4.75 acres will be for sale with a guide of £45,000. This land includes a small field shelter.

We also have property for auction on behalf of The Woodland Trust with 3.88 acres at Beer Hackett for £10,000 and 1.81 acres at Charlton Marshall for £5,000.

The sprinkling of stardust, however, is for Marycourt in Child Okeford which is a detached house set in about half an acre. The guide is £525,000 and we are offering the property on behalf of Denise Eckshaw and Harry Pottle who were Set Decorator and Production Designer respectively on a number of films and TV programmes including The Avengers, Anna Karenina, Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, You Only Live Twice, Carry on Columbus and 39 Steps.

In addition to which there are numerous leisure activities including both, sailing and power boat clubs, a cliff top golf course and a bowling club. The whole coastline with Lyme Regis and Charmouth at its centre has been designated a World Heritage Site commonly known as the Jurassic Coast, It lies approximately 5 miles from the market town of Axminster, with its main line railway connections to Waterloo (Approx. 2 3/4 hours). Taunton and Exeter are within a radius of about 30 miles with access to the M5 motorway and the county town of Dorchester is a similar distance. Locally there are primary schools in Lyme Regis and Uplyme along with the well-respected Woodroffe and Colyton Grammar Schools.

A viewing is highly recommended to appreciate all this property has to offer. Please call Fortnam Smith & Banwell Estate Agents on 01297 - 445666 to arrange a viewing.

Intuitive Healing

INTUITIVE HEALING
A non contact alternative approach to orthodox treatments which helps promote energy balance and pain relief.
ALL ENQUIRIES WELCOME - David Wallace - 07909 481706
therapeuticsoulutions@gmail.com

Intuitive Healing is the diagnosing and mending of our physical, emotional and sexual wellbeing from within. An intuitive Healer will carry out this work by directing energy to the required place of discomfort allowing the patient's own self healing powers to do the actual healing. Information about the root cause of the discomfort can also be channelled giving the patient an insight as to how best to self treat their individual problems.

Nissan announces prices for All-New X-Trail

▲ New Nissan X-Trail

NISSAN has announced full pricing and specifications for the all-new X-Trail – the stylish and dynamic model that will reaffirm the brand's command of the crossover segment when it arrives in UK showrooms this July.

Sporting sleek and modern looks and incorporating a suite of in-class technology firsts, the all-new X-Trail builds on the dependable and accomplished reputation of its predecessor while redefining the compact SUV and further strengthening the Nissan crossover family.

A highly competitive and flexible pricing structure has been developed to ensure the latest iteration appeals in equal measure to both the loyal army of X-Trail devotees and conquest customers.

Prices start from just £22,995 for the entry-level five-seat 2WD Visia, which is £2,600 less than its predecessor, making all-new X-Trail and high-end crossover ownership more accessible than ever. Meanwhile, the five-seat 2WD Acenta, expected to be the most popular model in the range, costs just £24,795 - £800 less than the outgoing entry level Acenta.

Four equipment-packed grades: exceptional flexibility

From launch, the all-new X-Trail will be available in four familiar grades – Visia, Acenta, n-tec and Tekna – giving buyers exceptional flexibility to choose a model that best suits their lifestyle and their budget.

But Nissan's relentless drive for quality ensures the whole range is without compromise. The use of premium materials throughout means each variant has a high quality, luxurious feel and generous equipment levels enhance this further.

Priced from £22,995, Visia models sport stylish 17" alloy wheels and are given further kerb appeal with an eye-catching signature strip of LED daytime running lights.

Inside, an array of technological features including Bluetooth connectivity and an MP3 compatible sound system with AUX-IN, air conditioning, heated door mirrors, follow-me-home lighting and an electric parking brake are also among the equipment included as standard.

The all-new X-Trail features one of the most advanced meter displays yet seen, with 5 inch TFT colour display incorporating 12 graphic displays accessible on rotation offering advice and warnings including average and actual speeds, navigation turn-by-turn instructions, audio content, traffic sign recognition, eco driving advice and torque distribution settings in 4WD mode.

Moving up through the range the Acenta, priced from £24,795, adds privacy glass, dual zone climate control, electric folding mirrors, a power sunroof, automatic lights and wipers and front and rear parking sensors to the lengthy equipment list.

Both the Visia and Acenta models come with the option of a Smart Vision Pack that adds many of the most desirable driver aids and safety enhancements in one convenient and affordable package. Priced at £495, the Visia Smart Vision Pack adds automatic lights, High Beam Assist, Lane Departure Warning, Forward Emergency Braking, Traffic Sign Recognition and front and rear parking sensors to the standard equipment. Meanwhile, the Acenta Smart Vision Pack, which costs £450, adds High Beam Assist, Lane Departure Warning, Forward Emergency Braking and Traffic Sign Recognition to the standard specs.

Buyers choosing the n-tec, which starts at £27,295, get everything included on the Acenta with Smart Vision Pack plus a wealth of additional goodies including 19" alloys, intelligent i-Key locking with push-button ignition, DAB radio, roof rails, power tailgate, Around View Monitor giving 360-degree view around the car and the latest generation NissanConnect system with smartphone integration and built-in apps.

Meanwhile, the range-topping Tekna, which is priced from £29,295, adds even more luxury and technology, including Bi-LED headlamps, heated leather seats and an electric driver's seat with lumbar support. A number of additional safety features such as a Blind Spot Warning and Driver Attention Alert are also included, as is Nissan's ingenious Park Assist automatic parking feature.

All-New Peugeot 108 Hatch and Top! Prices and Specs Revealed

Full details on one of the most eagerly anticipated new cars of 2014 – the all-new PEUGEOT 108 – are revealed.

The sophisticated and chic city car is available in three and five-door Hatch or TOP! Cabrio body styles and with a choice of two fuel-efficient and low-emissions petrol engines. These include PEUGEOT's recently unveiled PureTech naturally aspirated three-cylinder unit.

Personalisation will be a key element of the 108's appeal to customers, with a huge range of colours, ambiences, trims and themes.

The new model is also a technical 'tour de force', bringing desirable new comfort and convenience features to the city car sector. These include a 7-inch touch-screen infotainment system with DAB digital radio, Mirror Screen with MirrorLink™ technology and Bluetooth connectivity for smartphones and the safety benefit of steering wheel-mounted controls.

Until very recently, such features were reserved for premium saloons costing considerably more than the PEUGEOT 108. Yet this elegant and desirable new city car will offer exceptional value for money. Prices start at just £8,245 on the road.

The car is available in PEUGEOT's familiar four trim levels – Access, Active, Allure and Feline. On the 108 Hatch, Access is only available on three-door models. Standard features include LED daytime running lights, remote central locking, USB/aux connection for external audio players with steering wheel-mounted controls, six airbags, ESP stability control and two rear ISOFIX mountings.

Active models add colour-coded door handles and mirrors, air-conditioning, height-adjustable driver's seat, 7-inch touch-screen infotainment system with DAB digital radio, Mirror Screen and Bluetooth.

The Allure model takes the standard spec up another notch, with 15-inch 'Thorren' alloy wheels, front fog lights, auto headlights, electric heated door mirrors, reversing camera, leather steering wheel and gear knob, plus PEUGEOT Open & Go (keyless entry and engine start/stop button).

The flagship PEUGEOT 108 is in Feline trim, which adds a touch of luxury. Features include leather upholstery, chrome door handles and mirrors and automatic dual zone air conditioning.

For the first time, PEUGEOT's smallest car is available with a retractable fabric roof, which can be opened and closed electrically at any speed. Called the 108 TOP!, it's available in Active and Allure trims. Active cars have colour-coded door handles and mirrors, manual air conditioning, electric front windows, height adjustable driver's seat, 7-inch touch-screen infotainment system with Mirror Screen, DAB digital radio, Bluetooth and steering wheel-mounted controls.

Allure adds 15-inch 'Thorren' alloy wheels, front fog lamps, auto headlights, tinted rear windows, reversing camera, electric heated door mirrors and PEUGEOT Open & Go.

Both the 108 Hatch and TOP! come with a choice of two petrol engines. They are a 1.0-litre 68bhp with 95g/km of CO2 (88g/km with Stop and Start), or a 1.2-litre PureTech VTi 82bhp with 99g/km of CO2. A five-speed manual transmission is mated to both engines, with the option of a 2-Tronic semi-automatic gearbox on the 1.0-litre.

Prices start at £8,245 on the road for the PEUGEOT 108 Hatch 1.0-litre Access three-door. Active models begin at £9,495, Allure at £10,995 and Feline at £11,845. 108 TOP! Cabrio models are priced from just £10,345 for the 1.0-litre Active three-door (only a £850 price walk from the equivalent Hatch version), rising to £12,245 for the 1.2-litre Allure five-door.

Eight vibrant body colours and three roof colours are included in the 108's standard palette. Customers will be encouraged to design a car to fit their style, so personalisation choices will be wide and varied. Optional extras start at just £100 for an Aikinite ambience, which consists of a dash insert and gloss black surround on the centre console. Diamond, Kilt, Barcode, Dressy, Tattoo and Sport personalisation themes will cost only £350, while Purple Berry / Zircon Grey two-tone paint with Dual personalisation theme is just £850.

Brake welcomes tougher penalties for unlicensed drivers who kill and injure

JUSTICE secretary Chris Grayling MP today announced that disqualified drivers who kill and injure will face much tougher sentences, with a maximum of 10 years for those who kill and four years for those who seriously injure. The current maximum sentence is only two years for a death, and there is no specific offence for causing a serious injury while disqualified.

The justice secretary also announced his intention to conduct a full review of driving offences and penalties. Visit the Ministry of Justice news page to see the announcement in full.

Reacting, Julie Townsend, deputy chief executive, Brake, said: "Brake has long campaigned for a shake-up of charges and penalties for risky and irresponsible drivers who kill and injure on our roads. Brake supports families who have been deeply and permanently affected by selfish and risky behaviour at the wheel and we frequently hear from these families that they feel terribly let down by our justice system. As such, we strongly welcome Chis Grayling's announcement of a thorough review this year.

The paltry sentences handed out for deaths and injuries caused by disqualified drivers, who have no right to be on the road in the first place, are one of the worst injustices in the current system, and Brake strongly welcomes the government's move to address this. Getting behind the wheel when you have been banned from driving is a deliberate and illegal choice, and too often leads to devastating tragedies - the penalties must reflect this."

Find out more about Brake's Crackdown campaign for tougher penalties for drivers who kill and injure. Tweet us @Brakecharity, #Crackdown.

Brake

Brake is a national road safety charity that exists to stop the needless deaths and serious injuries that happen on roads every day, make streets and communities safer for everyone, and care for families bereaved and injured in road crashes. Brake promotes road safety awareness, safe and sustainable road use, and effective road safety policies. We do this through national campaigns, community education, a Fleet Safety Forum, practitioner services, and by coordinating the UK's flagship road safety event every November, Road Safety Week. Brake is a national, government-funded provider of support to families and individuals devastated by road death and serious injury, including through a helpline and support packs.

Brake was founded in the UK in 1995, and now has domestic operations in the UK and New Zealand, and works globally to promote action on road safety.

Road crashes are not accidents; they are devastating and preventable events, not chance mishaps. Calling them accidents undermines work to make roads safer, and can cause insult to families whose lives have been torn apart by needless casualties.

MIDWEEK ROUND-UP

A TIRED and deflated Lyme Regis first team squad fell to a 2-1 defeat at Shepton Beauchamp on Tuesday evening.

The hosts went 2-0 ahead before Joe Bond continued his fine goal scoring form.

But thoughts of the confirmed eight-point deduction made for a hollow performance as Crewkerne were officially confirmed as league champions.

There was better new from Lyme Bantams who took the lead through player-manager Darren Poole in their must-win encounter at Millwey Rise Reserves.

Rise grabbed what looked like being the goal that would dash the Seasiders Division Three title hopes when Gary Venn scrambled the ball home in the 87th minute.

But there was still time for substitute Nathan Turner to head home at the far post for the Seasiders who now had to hope that Drimpton didn't win at Hawkchurch United on Saturday if they are to get their hands on the silverware.

Meanwhile, two goals from Man-of-the-Match Craig Coles and an own goal saw Uplyme Reserves clamber off the foot of the Division Four table with a gutsy 3-2 win at wooden-spoon rivals Chard Rangers Reserves.

Wednesday brought the much-anticipated Division One local-derby at Venlake between Uplyme and Lyme Regis Reserves.

The Seasiders went into the game hunting the win that would keep alive their Division One title hopes.

All looked well when Ryan Turner netted from close range after the ball had struck the crossbar three times in an amazing passage of play. Rhys Evans coolly guided home a second to put Lyme in control at the break.

Pete Peacock then pounced after keeper Sam Kapur had spilled a cross to make it 3-0. But the hosts weren't beaten.

A Jake Bearpark free-kick from way out missed everybody and crept in at the far post to reduce the arrears.

Bearpark then struck again before substitute Brandon Bryant netted the 81st minute equaliser in a thrilling match.

Thursday's storm saw Lyme Regis' scheduled premier Division visit by relegation-haunted Combe Reserves washed-out.

Saturday, May 3rd
ARTHUR GAGE FINAL
PERRY ST RES 2 S.PETHERTON 1
(at Farway)

BOTH managers agreed that Perry Street Reserves may just have been more than a little fortunate to get their hands on their second piece of silverware in an impressive season.

"It was hard fought with not much football played on a small pitch. They (Petherton) were stronger and a threat at set-pieces, but we had the fresher legs," said Street boss Andy Bond

"I'm not sure we deserved the win but we're not complaining!"

Petherton were on top for the opening half hour but Sam Bond headed Street ahead from a corner in 32nd minute and his side finished the half the stronger.

Jody Bovey levelled things up after the restart with his 30th goal of the season.

But the winner came in the 88th minute when substitute Freddie Holley's cross shot was turned into his own net by Jon Fullerton.

"We created several good chances that we eventually paid the penalty for not taking, " said a disappointed Pethy boss Karl Diment.

Street could clinch a superb treble by winning the Division one title when the teams met again at Lightgate Lane yesterday.

PREMIER
LYME REGIS 1 MILLWEY RISE 1

THE local-derby at the Davey Fort on Saturday ended honours even which, with Combe Reserves winning at Ilminster, resulted in Millwey Rise being relegated back down to Division Two.

The Seasiders took the lead in the 67th minute when Rhys Evans latched onto a Joe Bond through ball and slotted past Ash Hall in the Rise goal.

But Millwey banked a point when a Brad-Lee Miller corner fell to Mark Pike who stabbed the ball home.

The point sees Lyme in contention for a runners-up spot finish.

MISTERTON 1 CREWKERNE TOWN 8

NEWLY crowned champions Crewkerne Town rounded off their season in fine style with a 8-1 thrashing of neighbours Misterton.

TITLE WINNER: Mark Hodder and joint-manager Darren Poole have guided Lyme Regis Bantams to Division Three glory.

Dave John and Adam Dawe both netted hat-tricks while their were singles from Jamie Spurdle and Brad Miles as the Tigers racked up their 10th consecutive win.

Phil Hill netted the Misterton consolation.

as Thorncombe put the disappointment of being beaten in the final for the last two seasons behind them.

Waytown were the better of the two sides early on, when Jon Legg had two good chances to put them ahead.

The first came in the 12th minute as Matt Read burst through on the right, crossed into the box and Legg put his shot over from eight yards.

On 20 minutes a cross from left was met by Legg who headed straight at Jake Hardiman.

Thorncombe had the better of the second-half and after scoring could have increased their lead in the 71st minute when Wayne Stanton saw keeper Lee Cuff off his line and tried a chip shot from 25 yards, but it went just over the bar.

Waytown's best effort came in the 79th minute when Steve Masters ran through a static defence only to put his shot inches over.

THE first games were been played in the leagues with success for the men but disappointment for the ladies.

The men had a good 8-2 win against Weymouth Melcombe Regis in the championship, but unfortunately the score was reversed for the ladies against Green Hill, a club against whom they had considerable success last season.

All the league sides will be in action this coming week plus a few members will be making their initial forays into various county competitions.

On the friendly front it was win one lose one, with the success coming at Severalls and defeat away to Merriott.

On Saturday the club held it's annual open day and were blessed with fine weather but failed to attract alarge numbers of would-be bowlers.

Cricket - A View From the boundary

WITH STUART BROOM

Century opening stand for Dorch

Dinnison off to a flier with half dozen scalps - Runyard runs through Bruton

DESPITE glorious sunshine for the opening day of the new cricket season, several games had to be cancelled due to wet pitches.

The terrific floods of the winter has meant that the ground has not recovered enough yet and rain in the lead up last week left several wickets still too wet to play on with local games at Beaminster, Bridport and Symene all affected.

Fortunately Cattistock's investment in covers over the winter paid dividends, and the game against Beaminster was switched so it could be played with Cattistock victorious.

Weymouth could not stop Parley continuing where they left off last season by winning, but there was cheer for both Dorchester and Martinstown who both won.

PARLEY 118-4 BEAT WEYMOUTH 117 ALL OUT BY 6 WICKETS

DESPITE Matt Lawes (2-33) trapping Rob Viney lbw with the second ball of Parley's reply, Weymouth could not contain the league champions who opened the new season with a comfortable six wicket win over Weymouth at Dean Park, as Tom Jacques (54) and Adam Cocking (34) put on 97 for the second wicket.

On a slow wicket Weymouth's new skipper Kieron Womble decided to bat and although Lawes (19) and Womble (21) put up good resistance early on, the introduction of left arm spinner Dominic Clutterbuck (4-19) ripped out the middle order, although Tom England gathered 21 before he was run out.

Weymouth found it difficult to get the ball off the square using all but four of their 50 over allocation to reach 117 all out.

Womble said: "It was a difficult start. The wicket and outfield were both slow and with the batsmen a bit out of form due to lack of game time we found it very difficult to get the ball away, although the fact that we used up almost 46 overs showed some resilience.

"However we bowled quite well at times and with another 50 more runs it might have made it interesting.

Matt claimed a wicket a wicket with his second ball which was encouraging and we kept chipping away, but I was very impressed with everyone's attitude which was positive and their commitment which bodes well for the season."

Premier League 2
SHROTON 40 ALL OUT LOST TO DORCHESTER 241ALL OUT BY 201 RUNS

DORCHESTER made the best possible start to regaining their place in the Dorset Premier League 1 with a convincing 201 run win over Shroton.

Having set the hosts a target of 242 to win skipper Dan Belt and James Dunham bagged four wickets apiece as they dismissed them for just 40 all out.

Vice-captain Pete Moxom (52) and will Caldwell gave the county town a superb start with an opening stand of 114, and with debutant Fergus Guppy (34) and Belt (32) to follow they reached 191-3 before the home bowlers started to gain a foothold.

However, Sean Fitzgerald weighed in with a late 25 and with 44 extras, Dorchester cruised to 241 all out.

Shroton were on the back foot from the first ball of their innings when Belt (4-13 from six overs) had Lowe caught behind by Fitzgerald, and at 7-3 the writing was on the wall. Only opener M Doble with 17 mustered any resistance, extras with 12 being the next highest score and with Dunham (4-19 from seven overs) and Aussie debutant Eamonn Scott (2-4) also in top form, Shroton capitulated in just 15 overs.

Belt who is hoping his side can bounce back at the first attempt said: "You couldn't have asked for a much better start really. Right from the first ball with Pete and Will putting on over a hundred, and from then on a few of us getting a few as well pushed us towards the 240 total which was good; I was pleased with anything over 200 because it was a wet wicket, very slow and green.

"Then with me getting a wicket with the first ball it set the tone for the innings really and from then on we picked up wickets regularly.

"It's hard to judge the performance against the rest of the season at this stage, as it was a wet wicket and we can't expect every game to be that easy.

"Obviously we have the benefit having come down a league, so it will be interesting to see how we do this Saturday against Blandford."

SHERBORNE 134 ALL OUT LOST TO MARTINSTOWN 138-7 BY 3 WICKETS

MARTINSTOWN made a brilliant start to their season in Premier League 2.

Despite having finished fourth in the old Division One they did not win any of the five games they played against the three sides that finished above them; something that they were disappointed not to have done.

They put that right on Saturday when they visited Sherborne who won their league, and came away with a very well earned three wicket victory.

Winning the toss new skipper Ed Nichols invited Sherborne to bat on a damp wicket. Despite a good opening 16 over spell from Luke Read (1-35) and Teddy Andrews (2-24), Sherborne openers Luke Hancock and Andrew Nurton had made a steady putting on 45.

However, the introduction of the spinners saw the breakthrough with Josh Ashton (2-22) claiming both before Lock fell to Jamie Crawford (1-31).

Ryan Chase (4-16 from 10 overs) then claimed two victims in his first over, another in his second and then a fourth as Sherborne slumped to 85-7.

Tim Durston (27) and Paul Hancock (10 not out) launched a mini revival which was halted by a Read yorker, before Andrews returned to mop up the tail to leave Sherborne 134 all out.

Nichols (7) and Dave Herbert (16) gave Martinstown a solid start before Nurton (2-23) removed them both and when Sam Kershaw departed without scoring, they were in a little trouble at 33-3.

Lee House (14) and Tom Adams (43) steadied the ship with a consolidating partnership before another flurry of wickets left it to Crawford (15 not out) and Chase (6 not out) to see them home with 12 overs to spare.

Nichols said: "We are delighted to finally beat one of the best sides in the division; it was like getting a monkey off our backs. It was a difficult wicket; the type which we don't usually excel on.

"The seamers (Read and Andrews) bowled well early on without much reward, but Ryan Chase's spin bowling was the highlight. His control, flight and turn were outstanding.

"It was a bit nervy chasing on that wicket, but the batsmen were positive and Tom Adams responded with a responsible innings when it was needed."

County Division Two
BEAMINSTER 131 ALL OUT LOST TO CATTISTOCK 208 ALL OUT BY 77 RUNS

CATTISTOCK benefitted from the new covers they purchased in the summer by being able to switch their opening fixture to their ground after the Memorial Ground wicket was deemed too wet.

Beaminster won the toss and elected to field and some tight bowling from Ade Phillips(1-25) and Ross Baker (1-33) saw Cattistock's openers Jon Legg (32) and Martin Langford (8) struggling for runs and after 20 overs the hosts were 62-2 with one wicket each for the opening bowlers.

Leg spinner Jack Walklett (2-56) came on and bowled excellently in his opening spell to remove Mark Walbridge and captain Ben Golledge each for a single leaving Cattistock on 90-4.

Mike White was then joined by Matt Damen whose aggressive play saw the ball smashed to all parts of the ground, scoring heavily off of Beaminster's spinners.

They added 107 for the fifth wicket before Damen was dismissed for 51 (6 sixes and 2 fours) by Dave Percy (2-10) who also finally bowled White for a superb 89 which included 3 sixes and 8 fours.

Simon Jones (3-22) weighed in as they cleaned out the Cattistock tail and the innings closed on 208 in the last over.

In reply Jones and Dan Hillier negotiated the opening bowlers comfortably and took the score up to 41 before Hillier (19) was bowled by Martin Langford (2-15 off 10 overs).

But the rest of the batsmen struggled against Legg (3-18), Buddy Langford (2-7) and Damen (2-9), particularly when Jones was dismissed for 32 with only skipper Rich Runyard (23) managing a respectable score as the Beaminster's innings closed on 131.

DORCHESTER 2ND 67 ALL OUT LOST TO PORTLAND RT 160 ALL OUT BY 93 RUNS

DORCHESTER 2nds packed with young players crashed to defeat against Portland RT. Their cause wasn't helped by captain Stuart Beasley picking up a side strain after five overs which will see him sidelined this Saturday at least.

Portland RT had Simon Proffitt to thank for their total; he made 75 but was dropped when on 30. Although Dorchester fielded and bowled well, particularly Pete Phillips who took four wickets, they didn't have the experience to deal with the visitors.

PORTLAND RT 2ND 160-5 BEAT COFE MULLEN 2ND 156-5 BY 5 WICKETS

PORTLAND RT 2nds got their season off to the best possible start with a comfortable win against Corfe Mullen 2nds, although things didn't begin well for Triangle as influential skipper Grant Neven had to withdraw from the game with a stomach bug minutes before the start.

Having elected to bat Corfe lost a wicket in the second over to a fine catch from Lawry West off the bowling of veteran Jodie Locke and they continued to find runs hard to come by as Tom Dalkins (8-3-13-0) produced an excellent spell.

Some heavy hitting from Bolt (30) and Thompson (25) however in the last five overs enabled Corfe to post a respectable 156-5.

Portland's openers West (14) and David Males (34) got Portland's reply of to a steady start as they keep up with the required run rate.

Chris Theakstone (72) then produced a cultured innings that never left the result in doubt and despite losing more wickets it was left to Dalkins (4 no) to hit the winning runs with powerful drive to the boundary with 6 overs to spare.

Skipper Grant Neven was impressed with an excellent all round display and added: "A good win to start the season. Although credit to both Tom and Chris, but saying that the whole team produced the goods. Luke Strong (4-0-8-0) bowled well on his debut and Tony Morris (5-0-21-2) has given the regular bowlers something to think about.

"We were a little rusty at times and will need to improve week in week out; a task that I feel all are up to."

County Division Five
CHARLTON DOWN 155-5 BEAT CHALKE VALLEY 154 ALL OUT BY 5 WICKETS

CHARLTON Down opened their 2014 season with a crushing five wicket victory over last season's Division Six champions Chalke Valley who had narrowly pipped them to the title.

Electing to bat Chalke Valley was soon in trouble; Matt Stevens bowling the dangerous Hitchings. Captain Andy Mercer (12) after bringing up the Valley 50 then fell to debutant Rich Fagence (4-35) caught at mid off by Tommy Tucker, and his tight bowling together with Nick Voss (1-16) meant the Valley batsmen could not build partnerships and wickets fell at regular intervals.

A fantastic two handed diving catch by Jae Miller at mid on to remove Goodchild, and the wicket of Butler (8), bowled by another debutant Kim Park(1-41) saw the visitors on 110-5. Some hard hitting from Giles Willoughby took then to 130-5 after 25 overs with a big score looking imminent but the introduction of Tucker (2-3) brought the end of Willoughby (39) bowled through the gate, soon followed by Hill in a double wicket maiden, to leave the score on 138-8. Stevens and Voss then returned to claim a wicket each with Miller producing another great one handed catch to end Chalke Valley's innings at 154 all out in the 32nd over.

Charlton Down needed a solid opening batting performance to dent the renowned bowling attack and debutant James Franzen (17) and Miller did a great job putting on 43 before Franzen was brilliantly caught. Miller (26) brought up the Charlton 50 with a delightful cover drive to the boundary in the 10th over but top edged a ball to leave then 69-2.

The match winning partnership of 54 came from the talented 16 year old Matt Stevens (24) and experienced Javed Gill (39). Stevens played solidly and produced some elegant driving off front and back feet until he was adjudged lbw to Willoughby on 123-3 before Jack Eveleigh was dismissed following a brilliant catch from wicketkeeper.

Gill followed in the next over, spooning a catch to mid off at 139-5 but his dogged defence mixed with explosive hitting had already done the damage, and it was left to John Clancy and Kim Park to knock off the remaining runs in only the 26th over and seal an emphatic victory.

Captain Tommy Tucker said: "What a great start to the season and opening fixtures don't come harder than this one after they thrashed us last year and went onto win the league.

"It was great to see the evergreen Rich Fagence making his Saturday debut, helped by some great catches by Jae Miller.

"The young bowlers Matt Stevens and Nick Voss bowled really well and Rob Deadman behind the stumps produced a great performance.

The batting was good to watch as Javed Gill and Matt Stevens 54 run partnership sealed the win. But Franzen and Miller nullified the good early bowling attack which fell away badly as the winning post grew nearer, producing 40 wides!"

UPLYME & LYME REGIS 2NDS 40-3 BEAT HONITON 2NDS 39 ALL OUT BY SEVEN WICKETS

A HONITON XI were dismissed for 39 at Uplyme in the first Devon League match of the season.

Unable to host the corresponding 1st XI fixture at Honiton due to a wet wicket, the visitors brought over a strong XI for the reverse 2nd XI game.

Uplyme countered in turn by including their two Australian players, Nick Dennison and Charlie Warner. And it was Dennison with his left arm fast medium pace who ripped through the Honiton top order with an opening spell that returned superb figures of 6 overs, 3 maidens 6 wickets for 5 runs.

Only opener Pete Matraver showed any resistance to Dennison's pace but when he went, brilliantly caught at third slip, by colt Wesley Holmes a collapse followed and Honiton slumped from 20 for 3 to 39 all out.

Wallace Blackmore acted as support bowler and chipped in with one for 21 from his six overs whilst young Daley Holmes mopped up the tail with figures of 2 for 9. The remaining wicket was a run out well executed by Steve Batey and wicket keeper Alfie Bellworthy

Eddie Clarke and Tyler Wellman made a steady start in reply against the pace of Kev Kelly and the experience of Phil Tansley.

Wellman mistimed a drive on the drying wicket and was caught in the covers for 8.

Dave Norman then went without scoring with the score on 11, giving Honiton hope of further wickets.

This was soon ended as Wesley Holmes came to the wicket intent on taking the game to them. He was quickly onto the front foot hitting the ball down the ground and took the score up to 33 before the watchful innings of Clarke came to an end adjudged lbw to Tansley.

The game ended in style when Alfie Bellworthy placed the ball over the pavilion for six to claim the first cheese of the season donated by Town Mill Cheesemonger and club sponsor Justin Tunstall.

Uplyme 2nd XI claimed 21 points whilst the 1st XI had to be content with 6pts for the cancelled game.

Johnson shines in first England triumph

CHARLOTTE Johnson was the toast of the dressing room recently after England won the Bob Docherty Trophy for the first time in their history.

The Sir John Colfox Year 11 pupil produced three stupendous saves in the penalty shoot-out that saw England go on to beat The Republic of Ireland in the final of what is essentially a version of the old British Home Championship that used to be played by the four UK countries senior mens teams.

Charlotte who plays centre back for the Dorset Under 15s girls earned her first England call-up in March against the Republic of Ireland before being selected for the Bob Docherty tournament at Repton School in Derbyshire last month.

After beating Wales 2-0 in the first game in which Johnson was not unduly overworked, she came to the fore in the second game against Scotland when with the game locked at 2-2 after 90 minutes penalties followed.

Having saved the second and the crucial fifth spot-kick which would have handed Scotland victory, she then saved the sixth and decisive one.

In the final it was fairly plain sailing again for England as they swept the Republic of Ireland aside to win 3-0.

Since then Johnson has played a fifth game for her country in the 1-1 draw with Scotland.

The 15-year-old, who is multi-talented in that she has achieved Grade 8 on the alto-sax which allows her to teach the instrument, started playing football at the age of five.

Championship double for Beaminster school

BEAMINSTER School had reason for a double celebration when both Year 7 and Year 10 football teams won the South West Dorset Schools Football Championships.

Year 7: Beaminster 2 Budmouth 1

HAVING beaten Dorchester Middle School and Colfox School in the later stages, the Year 7 team played Budmouth School in the final at the Bob Lucas Stadium on Monday last week.

Beaminster took the lead when they were awarded a penalty when Lewis Keenan was fouled. Captain George Calverley stepped up to score from the spot,but straight from the kick-off Budmouth equalised to make it 1-1 at half-time.

Lewis Keenan neatly chipped the goalkeeper for what proved to be the winner.

James Wagstaff, Head of PE said: "This is the most talented team I have seen at Beaminster School and I'm really looking forward to more success in the years to come."

Year 10: Beaminster 2 All Saints, Weymouth 1

IT was a case of third time lucky for the Year 10 team who had been runners-up twice before. Having beaten Thomas Hardye and Budmouth in the quarter and semi-finals they faced Weymouth's All Saints in the final.

The Weymouth-based Saints led 1-0 at half time. But Adam Harris headed home the equaliser to bring the score level as Beaminster took control.

A brilliant piece of individual skill from Solly Ayunga saw him beat three players before he was fouled in the penalty box. He got up and netted the spot kick to give Beaminster the victory.

Mr Wagstaff, said: "This is a fantastic achievement for such a small school competing against all the other schools in the area."

Squad: Aiden Trocian, Adam Harris, Henry Bowditch, Gundy Suleyman, Andrew Woods, Tom Clapp, Solly Ayunga, Solo Roper, Joachim Wood, Josh Hull, William Trocian, Blu Welsh, Michael Hill, Sam Robinson, Kieran Park.

Bridport target title after taming Cougars

3rds safe following draw

Milborne Sports 1 Bridport Thirds 1

BOOSTED by first teamers Matt Morley and Shane Evans, Bridport 3rds made absolutely certain they would retain Dorset Division One status next season with a well earned point at Milborne Sports last week.

The Bees received a setback on 15 minutes when Ashley Walkey had to be taken to hospital with a broken wrist, but they took the lead midway through the first-half through Morley who seized on a defensive slip to run at goal - the tricky winger rounded the keeper and covering defenders in a mazy dribble to score.

Milborne deservedly equalised midway through the second-half following a spell of pressure on the Bees defence, but Bridport could have won the game. Evans headed over from a corner and Morley produced two enticing crosses but there was no one there to take advantage.

Weymouth Cougars 2 Bridport U17s 5

In the second of three play-off games to determine the winners of this year's U17s league, Bridport travelled to face a Weymouth side who, after last week's defeat to Sherborne, knew only a win could keep their hopes alive.

Bridport opened the scoring when Sam Tabner made contact with a Jonah Ayunga cross to give Bridport the lead. Inspired, they pressed on and their efforts were rewarded when Fred Warren calmly found the bottom corner. This two-goal cushion was short lived as Cougars reduced trhe arrears to 2-1at the interval.

Bridport extended their lead when Ayunga cut inside and smashed ed the ball into the back of the net.

Cougars failed to respond and within five minutes Bridport had scored again as Ayunga slipped the ball to Olly Woodcock who netted to make it 4-1.

Cougars fought back and broke Bridport's otherwise solid, defensive line to narrow the gap only for Tabner to pick out Ayunga who delicately dinked it over the keeper.

Manager Terry Warren said: "This was definitely one of our best games. The boys worked hard and stuck to the game plan; I'm really proud of them. Weymouth are a good team but we were unlucky not to put another four or five past them."

This victory means that Bridport's game on Sunday against Sherborne at Bridport's St Mary's Field will act as a cup final for the league; a large crowd would be appreciated.

Bantams target memorable league and cup double

by Howard Larcombe
howard@pemedia.co.uk

LYME Regis Bantams were crowned as the Perry Street & District League Division Three champions for the first time in the team's history on Saturday without actually kicking a ball.

The Seasiders' third-string have completed their league fixtures but finished in top spot after rivals Drimpton failed to clinch the win at Hawkchurch United which would have wrestled the silverware from Lyme's grasp.

The championship marks a fine first season in management for Darren Poole and Mark Hodder - the team's joint player-managers – who could see their charges lift another trophy on Friday evening when they take on Forton Rangers Reserves at Perry Street in the final of the Daisy Hutchings cup (6.15pm ko).

The Bantams will be favourites against Division Four outfit Forton Rangers Reserves but will be taking nothing for granted as they bid to become only the second Lyme team to get their hands on the trophy since the Reserves' victory back in 1998-99 when a Ronnie Reed OG clinched a 1-0 win over old foes Axminster Reserves at Merriott.

Lyme Regis, now with only runners-up spot in the Premier Division to fight for following their imminent eight-point deduction, were held to a 1-1 draw at the Davey Fort which ultimately relegated opponents Millwey Rise.

◆ Seasiders officials were surprised to learn from league vice-chairman Tony Turner on his visit to the Fort on Saturday that the PSDL committee had yet to formally discuss the eight-point deduction which they were informed about by league secretary Bob Brunt more than a week ago.

Meanwhile, UPLYME were left frustrated when scheduled opponents Beaminster Reserves once again failed to show and look likely to be docked three points.

Uplyme Reserves' tough season is almost at an end. Harry Robson, Niall Fifer and Steve Prendeville scored the goals in an 8-3 drubbing at the hands of visiting Thorncombe Reserves.

The week ahead
(midweek games all 6.15ko):
Last night: Lyme v Beaminster (Premier),
Tonight: Uplyme v Beaminster Res (Division One).
Thursday: Misterton v Lyme Regis.
Friday: Forton Rangers Res v Lyme Regis Bantams (Daisy Hutchings cup final – at Perry Street).
Saturday: Lyme Egis v Combe Res (Premier – 2pm), Lyme Regis Reserves v Uplyme (Division One - 4.15pm), Uplyme Res v Hinton (Division Four).

◆ THE Lyme Regis under 16 completed their magnificent double-winning season in fine style as they came from behind to beat Broadstone 4-2 in the sunshine at the Davey Fort.

The young Seasiders trailed 2-0 with five minutes remaining but stormed to victory with goals from Jon-Paul Avery (2), Matt Watson and a stunning free-kick from Rhys Hayter.
